STRIKE MAY BE NIPPED

Lima Shop Workers Get Walkout Order

1,000 PREPARE TO QUIT SATURDAY

Craftsmen Are Notified by Chicago Head of Unions

ORDER RECEIVED LAST NIGHT

Railroads Shift Repair Work to Meet Situation

More than one thousand railway shop men employed in this city, will cease work at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in compliance with the nation-wide strike order received here late Thursday afternoon, it is announced.

Six hundred at the Baltimore & Ohio shops on E. McKibben-st and 400 at the Lake Erie & Western shops on S. Main-st will lay down their tools, halting operations in protest against the $135,000,000 wage cut ordered by the United States Railway board, it is stated.

The order to strike was received here shortly after newspapers dispatched announcing that it would be broadcasted to the unions were carried in The Lima News. B. M. Jewell, head of the shop union of the Railway Employees' department at Chicago signed the order according to Frank Clay, acting chairman of the machinists' union in this city. Clay is employed at the B. & O. shops.

MAY AVERT STRIKE

Unless eleven hour compromises predicted Friday are consummated, railway repair work will not only be tied up in this city, but over the entire country as well.

Clay declares that the railways cannot operate for more than a month with the shop men idle.

Outs from the L. E. & W. shops of this city indicate that the ordered walkout will affect that road but little, unless the strike is of a prolonged nature.

J. J. Maginn, superintendent of motive power, declared that the road has many engines in perfect condition, stored for just such emergencies.

On the other hand, indications on the B. & O. were to the effect that repair work on that road would be shifted to the southern divisions where open shops are maintained. Trains on the B. & O. running thru Lima Friday drew extra cabooses. These cabooses, it was declared, were being sent to open shops to the south, where repair work on them could go on despite the expected strike.

J. J. Maginn, of the L. E. & W. substantiated reports to the effect that men from other departments would not be called upon for repair work in the event that the strike order becomes effective thru failure of the attempted compromise Friday. Other provisions, he said, have been made for the emergency.

NO TROUBLE EXPECTED.

No trouble of serious nature is expected by officials as the result of the strike order. Chief of Police Lanker declared Friday that his department would be in readiness to maintain order in the event his forces should be called upon.

Rumors to the effect that police guards would be ordered around railway shops in this city Saturday, were denied by the chief. Police laughed at the theory advanced by some that dynamite found recently near the railroads might have some connection with the anticipated strike order.

The strike order affects machinists, boiler-makers, car workers, inspectors, engine house men and laborers.

The D. T. & I. is not expected to be affected, it is stated. The Chicago & Erie has no repair shops.

DRY AGENT WOUNDED IN BATTLE WITH RUM BOAT

MIAMI, Fla. — Stanley Hubbard, pilot of a prohibition seaplane stationed here, was wounded in the hand Wednesday night in a battle with a liquor boat off Cape Florida, it was learned today.

Hubbard said he was lying off the cape about 11 o'clock watching for liquor smugglers when the boat came along. In response to his command to pull in, the boat opened fire on his plane with a rifle and a shotgun, he said, one shot striking him in the hand. Hubbard took to the air and his aids opened fire with machine guns, sending ninety rounds into the boat.

This is the first battle between a prohibition plane and a liquor runner that has taken place in these waters.

500 INITIATED

TIFFIN — More than 500 candidates were initiated at the first class held in a new Knights of Columbus home here.

ADMINISTRATOR BLAIR SUES

Petition Alleges Plot to Smuggle Opium From Mexico

Suit was begun in Franklin-co court at Columbus Friday by Clifford Blair, court stenographer at Wapakoneta, administrator of the estate of Joseph Scott Kershaw, against Harold L. Nierengarten, William J. King, K. D. King, T. Nealy, J. B. Miller, William J. King International Detective Agency and the Columbus Surety Co. for $50,000 damages because of the death of Kershaw.

SLAYER IS DEFENDANT

The principal defendant in the case is Harold Nierengarten, Lima boy, who is serving a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary for the murder of Kershaw, November 19, 1922, in a box car on the B. & O. Railroad, near Cridersville.

Blair, a relative of the slain war hero, Scotty Kershaw, sets forth in his petition particulars of an alleged plot to smuggle opium into the United States from Mexico.

The petition recites that prior to the killing of Kershaw, William J. King, James B. Kavanaugh, K. D. King and T. Nealy, as the William J. King Detective Agency Commissioned Nierengarten as a private detective for a consideration of $10 and for a further consideration of $5 William J. King and J. B. Miller, representing themselves as the Columbus Surety Company, signed his bond of $1,000.

SMUGGLING CHARGED

It then recites that the defendant advised Nierengarten to go to Sonora, Mexico and there purchase opium and to bring it across to the United States. That Nierengarten did so under an agreement by which the William J. King International Detective Agency and William J. King were to divide the profits of the opium running business.

That by reason of this influence, the petition recites, inflaming the mind, increasing the criminal tendency and arousing the aversion of Nierengarten, they contributed toward his act in taking the life of Kershaw.

YANKS RELEASED

U. S. Told Americans Held in Mexico Are Freed

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Dispatches to the state department today from Consul Shaw at Tampico indicated that the 85 employees of the British-owned La Corona Oil Company, including the half dozen Americans held yesterday for ransom by outlaws had been released. The message was very brief and not clear and the department telegraphed immediately for an explanation.

The consul said merely that the 85 persons referred to in his report yesterday of the new bandit raid were "not now held." It was not stated whether the bandits had withdrawn from the property at the camp of the oil company or whether any payment had been made.

INJURED HOTEL OWNER REMOVED TO CHICAGO

Sig. Lester, part owner of Hotel Norval, was removed to St. Luke hospital, Chicago, Friday, for treatment for a crushed leg and fractured knee which he suffered a week ago, when he fell a distance of 20 feet into the elevator pit of Hotel Norval.

Lester suffered serious injury to his heel. He was showing a new device on the elevator door to his partner, Harry Friedman, at the time he opened the door, stepped into the passage-way and fell to the pit in the basement.

He was accompanied to Chicago by Harry Friedman.

OFFICE OF MAYOR QUIT BY OLES

Youngstown Executive Hands in His Resignation

"HEAD FULL OF TROUBLES"

Most Thankless Job on Earth, He Declares

YOUNGSTOWN — (Associated Press) — George L. Oles, elected mayor of Youngstown on an independent ticket last fall after a sensational campaign, today resigned from office after six stormy months of administration.

A statement given out by Oles said that "my head is full of public troubles and of praise, enough to last me the rest of my life," and asserted that "no matter what I do, I make enemies."

BUSINESS MEN ATTACKED

He attacked business men who signed petitions to retain "at war time wages" 23 policemen whom he had discharged.

"Talk about a thankless job," the statement continued, "if there ever was one on earth, there is none compared to this. I have given away $2,500 of the hardest earned money I have ever earned or will earn, and I receive five thank-yous. Wonderful."

OLE'S REFERRING TO HIS GIVING HIS SALARY TO CHARITY

Oles was referring to his giving his salary to charity.

"I cut the city budget for next year $800,000," he added, "and only one taxpayer wrote to thank me for what I did. It is true I have not done nearly what I expected to do. However, I have been able to accomplish a great deal. I cleaned off your old diamond (public square) and made it green. I cleaned off the steps from the city property. I have enforced the curfew ordinance. I have practically cleaned the town of booze. Many a notorious building is standing empty. We have improved traffic conditions 100 per cent."

"I have put Youngstown on the map, not only in this country, but thruout the world," said the statement, appending a list of a dozen countries in which stories about Oles' eccentric methods have been published.

Governor Davis has been considering a request made by Thomas M. Falcon, of Youngstown, an opponent of the administration, that Oles be impeached.

Discharged policemen, too, were preparing a suit to oust Oles on the ground that he was elected illegally. Common Pleas Court yesterday reinstated these men.

FAMOUS PLATFORM

Oles broke into the mayoralty campaign here last summer with his now famous platform of throwing out the street cars and giving the jitneys full sway, firing the police if they did not mend their ways, arresting those who paid taxes under a revaluation, tearing up the Erie railroad tracks if grade crossings were not abandoned, and permitting spooning in the parks.

After he took office Oles' fame again spread by his announcement that a "breath smeller" would be appointed to sniff at policemen every four hours in search of anti-Unionism.

This spring he announced his candidacy for governor as an independent and made plans for an airplane tour of the state, a private train tour with a carload of red fire, and other unique efforts. Some time later, however, he withdrew his candidacy, saying that Youngstown needed him.

FOUR COURTS IS BLOWN UP

Explosion Wrecks Building as Insurgents Flee

RUINS ENVELOPED IN FLAMES

Many of O'Connor Forces Taken by Collins Army

LONDON — (Associated Press) — Reports received in official quarters here from Dublin this afternoon state that the Four Courts building has been blown up.

Details are lacking but it is believed the irregulars left a mine behind them and that the building was ignited and the mine exploded.

STRONGHOLD TAKEN

DUBLIN — (United Press) — The Four Courts, stronghold of Irish rebels, fell to free state troops at 9 a. m. today.

Fierce fire of heavy guns of the provisional government forced Rory O'Connor and his insurgent band to abandon their fortress.

Many of the rebels fled to buildings they had seized in the vicinity. Some were captured. The free state soldiers immediately began to batter at the walls of these improvised strongholds.

The flight of the rebels was marked with intense fighting.

COLLINS DIED

Rory O'Connor, in defiance of the Collins government, seized the Four Courts on April 14 and immediately began to fortify the building.

Collins on Wednesday served notice on O'Connor to evacuate. O'Connor refused and the free state troops stormed the building.

The two main portions of the Four Courts were captured at 2 a. m. today after a concentrated bombardment by free state troops. Thirty-five rebels were captured and several hundred fled to nearby structures.

Three rebels were killed and 14 wounded in this engagement.

COMMANDANT ARRESTED

Rory O'Connor rushed to the rear of the buildings, with 150 of his followers. Commandant Barry of the rebel forces and 43 others were arrested. Barry was seized while attempting to escape, disguised as a nurse.

The rear of Four Courts — the last standing building — was then assaulted. The storming grew so fierce that by nine this morning O'Connor and his band had to abandon their position. Free state troops immediately occupied the building.

Free state troops according to advices here were attacked in various strongholds throughout Donegal.

THIRTY KILLED

Unofficial estimates of the casualties in the two days fighting here place the number of killed at thirty, with more than fifty wounded. This forenoon twelve deaths were reported and twenty wounded the latter including both men in the fighting forces and private citizens.

FOUR COURTS BURNING

LONDON — (Associated Press) — A Dublin dispatch to the Central News dated 5:55 a. m. says the Four Courts building held by the insurgents under Rory O'Connor has been completely occupied by the free state forces.

There is no confirmation of this report from other sources, which, however, agree that the fall of the stronghold is imminent.

A dispatch to the Press Association received here shortly before 1 p. m. said that the Four Courts was on fire and that a great explosion had shaken a large part of the city a few moments before the dispatch was filed.

ESCAPE THRU TUNNEL

BELFAST — (Associated Press) — The Republicans in the Four Courts at Dublin are escaping from the building by means of a tunnel which they constructed for use, in emergency, says a Dublin message received here this afternoon.

Their flight followed a tremendous explosion at 12:30 o'clock in the Four Courts, followed by a shower of legal documents, the message states.

FIGHTING FROM HOTELS

DUBLIN — (Associated Press) — The free state troops engaged in the operations against the irregulars in Dublin were apparently turning their attention today to meeting the insurgent measures in the outlying parts of the city, taking up positions in dozens of buildings here and there, fortifying them strongly and establishing observation posts.

The city is thus rapidly becoming a huge fortress with hundreds of snipers firing almost continuously and the peril to people in the streets hourly becoming more acute.

Hard Work Only Way to Happiness, Says the "Million Dollar Doll"

LOS ANGELES. — (Special) — What dividends has Peggy Hopkins Joyce drawn from her varied ventures in men, matrimony and millions?

What tips has she for other fair dealers in heart-ware who have envied "the million-dollar doll" her chances at happiness de luxe?

These, from her own carmine lips, as she settles down to a prospective business career and calculates the salvage of her romantic shipwrecks:

"I have learned from experience that hard work and sincere effort, not pampered idleness, point the only way to happiness."

"The gay white ways don't even give an approximation of it."

"My possessions," said to be somewhere near $2,000,000, "and my heart conquests have brought me nothing but wretchedness."

"I don't know what sort of man I should prefer if I were to look for one. Every ideal I have had has been woefully shattered."

"My respect goes to the man who is clever, courteous and considerate, who has brains and personality, irrespective of his appearance or possessions."

"It is that type that starts the real glow in a woman's heart, not jewels and motors."

"The most successful wooers, I have observed, are those who think of the little things that please a woman's whims, not the sleek fops who are invariably selfish."

"And the most durable husband is he who takes his wife into his confidence and makes a real partner of her."

"Beauty is the least important ingredient in charm."

"Brains are the chief requisite for fascination. Without them a man or woman is rapid and inconsequential."

"Then there is the attraction of eyes—especially those indicating understanding and kindness."

"Tact and a smiling countenance are very important elements."

INDICTMENT AGAINST FORMER MAYOR NOLLED

NEWARK — All indictments in Licking to courts against former Mayor H. A. Atherton and Newark gamblers, growing out of charges filed a year ago against Atherton, were nulled today by Judge James W. Tarbell, of Georgetown.

FRAZIER LEADS IN SENATE RACE

Late Returns in Dakota Vote Changes Outlook

FARGO, N. D. — (Associated Press) — Lynn J. Frazier, recalled Non-Partisan League governor of North Dakota, swung into the lead early today in the race for the Republican United States senatorial nomination over his opponent, Porter J. McCumber, incumbent, in returns compiled by the league state headquarters, and the Grand Forks Herald, which opposed Frazier, declared in an editorial this morning that defeat of North Dakota's senior senator "now seemed assured."

McCumber forces admitted that the figures they had were mostly from his strongholds and that many rural precincts generally favorable to the league had yet to report.

The league figures from 1,256 precincts of 2,064 in the state, gave Frazier 57,808, and McCumber 56,860, a lead for Frazier of 848. The newspaper tabulation from 1,151 precincts gave McCumber 56,379 and Frazier 51,741, a lead for McCumber of 4,638.

Governor R. A. Nestos, who was elected the state's chief executive at the recall election last October which ousted Frazier, held a big lead in the Republican gubernatorial contest over B. F. Baker, league candidate.

RAIL COMPROMISE EXPECTED

Likely to be Outcome of Conference Late Today

WOULD ABOLISH CONTRACTS

Workers to Accept Wage Cut on This Condition

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Eyes of the railway world centered today on the United States railroad labor board as the only visible agency to avert the nation-wide strike of 400,000 union shop men authorized by their leaders to lay down their tools at 10 p. m. tomorrow.

When the labor board stopped into the breach yesterday to intervene as an arm of the government by summoning before it today officials of the unions and railway executives, new hopes rose that the board would repeat its successful mediation of last October when it averted a nation-wide rail strike on the eve of a threatened walkout.

Even as reports reached Chicago that shop men thruout the country were preparing to walk off their jobs in response to the strike order, intimations of a settlement resulting in orders countermmanding the strike call were noised about.

POSSIBLE CONCESSION

Rumors of a compromise, to be sealed by the labor board at the meeting this afternoon, had it that the railroads would agree to abolish the system of farming out work to contractors, one of the issues in the strike referendum and a controversy in which the board had ruled against several roads. With this concession by the carriers as a partial victory for the unions, their leaders were said to be manifesting a disposition to cancel tomorrow's strike order and accept the $60,000,000 wage reduction edict of the labor board effective tomorrow.

ROAD CHIEFS TO APPEAR

Among rail executives summoned to appear before the board were the following: A. H. Smith, Big Four, Michigan Central and New York Central, and E. W. Underwood, Vice President of the United States senatorial nomination over his opponent, Porter J. McCumber, incumbent, in returns compiled by the league state headquarters, and the Grand Forks Herald, which opposed Frazier, declared in an editorial this morning that defeat of North Dakota's senior senator "now seemed assured."

SHIP SUBSIDY PUT UP TO FARMERS

Its Benefit to Agriculture Explained by Harding

GUESTS AT WHITE HOUSE

Dinner Given for Representatives of Planters

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press.) — Administration officials were hopeful today of a favorable reaction from the country's agricultural interests to arguments favoring their support of the ship subsidy legislation now pending in congress as presented by President Harding to a group of agricultural leaders.

Discussing the ship subsidy proposal and the relation of agriculture to an adequate merchant marine with a group of farmers' representatives at a White House dinner conference last night, President Harding was said to have emphasized the belief that it was no longer possible for the agricultural interests to be independent of overseas trade.

WINS TITLE IN HANDWRITING

LUBBOCK, Tex. — As a hunter of wild turkeys Walter E. Taylor, an architect of Lubbock, claims the championship of the world.

Some time ago Donald Mayfield of Baird, Tex., wrote, on one side of a postcard, a letter of some 800 or 900 words. Taylor heard about it. Grabbing a pen and a postcard, he wrote with the former on one side of the latter all he could think of about wild turkeys. He is an authority too. In 68 lines, averaging 23 words to the line, or a total of 1564 words, throwing Mayfield's performance entirely into the shade.

It is not the kind of writing that has to be written and can only be read with a microscope. Taylor's eyes required no artificial aid, tho he is 63 years old, and the card can be read with the naked eye, without prejudice, however, to the admission that a magnifying glass helps.

GRAIN DESTROYED.

ST. MARYS.—Approximately 600 acres of grain was ruined in this county during the recent tornadoes, it was estimated Friday. St. Marys was hardest hit. Noble's suffered severe losses also. In some places, wheat was virtually threshed by the wind.

THUNDERGUSTS ARE ON CARD

The heat Friday, threatening to surpass any that has yet been experienced by the city, will be topped off Thursday night by thundergusts. If this prediction is not carried out to the letter, the elements will be given another opportunity, Saturday.

So says the weather man, who forecasts increasing cloudiness and more rain.

Rain at the present time would prove a distinct benefit to the city. Oppressive heat held away all day long, while a brilliant glare from the doubly reflected rays of the sun made it uncomfortable for unshaded eyes.

In addition to the predictions which concern the rain and clouds, the weather man declares that it will continue warm.

RAIL COMPROMISE EXPECTED

visions of the order are crossing watchmen and drawbridge tenders; the former class being considered necessary to safeguard the traveling public, while the latter would be held at work that water transportation lines might not suffer.

Prior to his departure last night for Chicago, E. F. Grable, grand president of the maintenance brotherhood, let it be known that in the event the negotiations today failed he would immediately get in touch with headquarters here and issue instructions to let the strike call go out.

TIPUP PREDICTED CLEVELAND. — (Associated Press.) — Predictions that roundhouses of the New York Central railroad will be completely tied up by a walkout tomorrow, thus halting the entire system of yard operation, was made today by J. H. Vance, system secretary-treasurer of the shop crafts federation here.

The order of the officials of the trainmen's firemen's and locomotive engineer's brotherhoods here yesterday that their members should refuse to do other than their usual work after the shopmen strike, is expected to prevent the railroad from using locomotive crews and hostlers where roundhouses employees walk out.

The Collinwood shops are the largest in Cleveland and among the largest of the company. Between 800 and 900 union men are employed in the locomotive department and an equal number in the car department, according to Vance.

FARRAR-TELLEGEN ROMANCE MAY HAVE HAPPY ENDING

NEW YORK.—Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen have decided to have a happy ending to their romance, after all, according to its, a theatrical weekly.

The famous diva and her matinee idol husband, whose sensational matrimonial difficulties started the theatrical world last summer, are reported to have effected a reconciliation. Tellegen, according to reports published in Zits, has moved his things back to the house on West 74th-st from which "Gerry" hastily ordered them following their separation and this led to the belief that the stage couple had patched up their differences and were going to make last action end up "happily ever after."

Mrs. Farrar was not in town today, nor was Tellegen.

OHIO LAWMAKERS MEET MONDAY

Date for Bonus Legislature Changed by Governor

COLUMBUS.—(Associated Press.) —Chances for Ohio world war veterans who have not as yet received their state bonus appeared considerably brighter today, following the calling of the special session of the legislature by Governor Davis for Monday, July 3, instead of July 17, the date originally set for consideration of a proposed constitutional amendment to provide an additional $10,000,000 to the adjusted compensation fund.

The governor's action was in the form of a proclamation, amending his former proclamation which set July 17, as the date for the convening of the general assembly.

By earlier consideration of the proposal, sufficient time for advertising of the proposal will be allowed so that the amendment can be submitted to a vote at the August 8, primary, instead of waiting for the November election.

It was pointed out that in this way ex-service men will receive their bonuses about three months sooner.

"It has been represented to me by ex-service men," said the proclamation, "that postponement of such constitutional amendment proposal to the electorate till that time (November) will entail hardship upon those ex-service men whose adjusted compensation will be unpaid when the present $25,000,000 fund is depleted, and particularly would cause possible suffering among many of the heirs of those of Ohio's men who died in war service."

PLAN FIRST AID AT POSTOFFICE

Outfit for Benefit of Employees and Public is Ordered

First aid equipment for postal employees will be sent to the Lima postoffice with a short time, advices from Washington state.

It is planned to send out 18,000 boxes and 115 chests of medical supplies to the larger postoffices throughout the United States. Lima will receive a box, the chests being sent to the larger cities like Toledo and Cleveland.

Each box will contain instruments, wire splints, 1,000 cathartic pills, 10 tubes of iodine, spirit of ammonia, safety pins, a tourniquet, 1,000 bicarbonate of soda tablets, bandages, sterilized gauze and absorbent cotton.

While definite information was not available at the Lima postoffice, it is understood that the stationing of a public health representative in each postoffice is contemplated. This man would care for certain of the public as well as the government employees.

In the larger cities women employees of the main and branch postoffices are trained in first aid work and are ready to care for employees or those of the general public who are injured.

Often it is possible to take those who have become sick or injured into a postoffice and render aid before an ambulance or doctor could be summoned, officials point out.

NEW STYLE BADGES FOR LIMA CITY MAIL MEN

Lima's mail carriers will be required in future to provide themselves with a cap number or badge bearing number of carrier's route and the name of the postoffice, under an order issued Friday by John H. Bartlett, First Assistant Postmaster General.

The small metal plate may be attached to the cap, it is explained, or otherwise displayed prominently. The carriers will be obliged to pay for the badges themselves, the department estimating that 15 cents is a fair price for such an adornment. Every city and village mail carrier in the United States and there are 45,000 of them will be required to wear such badges.

Lima carriers at the present time have badges giving the number of their routes, but not the name of the postoffice. The official order has not been received at the local postoffice.

TROOPS SENT TO CHECK MINERS

Army Marching on Pits in West Virginia

CLASH OF WORKERS FEARED

Colorado Guardsmen Held Ready for Strike Duty

CHARLESTON, W. V.—(Associated Press.)—Two companies of the national guard were sent into the Cagin Creek and Paint Creek districts early today to break up an imminent march against miners on Cabin Creek which had been operating on an open shop basis. The troops were mobilized and dispatched on order of Governor Morgan after he received reports that bodies of men were gathering on Paint Creek and marching toward Dry Branch, Cabin Creek.

Residents of Dry Branch reported that there had been no fighting or other disorders, but late yesterday about 75 men gathered on Paint Creek and marched toward Dry Branch, it not being known how many others might have joined the marchers on the way.

SENT INTO HILLS

Last night they were reported to be on the property of the Dry Branch Coal Company two miles from the mining camp. Lieutenant Mack B. Lilley of the state police, with about fifty men, including the state police in that section under his command, and a number of volunteers from the Dry Branch camps went into the hills to meet them. No firing or other indications of fighting had been heard from that direction this morning.

Decision to dispatch the guardsmen was reached at a conference about midnight at Governor Morgan's office at which Adjutant General J. H. Charnock and Col. Jackson Arnold, head of the state police were present. The governor and others participating in the conference were unwilling to say what transpired or what occasioned calling the troops except for the statement that no actual outbreak had occurred.

COLORADO TROOPS CALLED

DENVER, Colo.—National guardsmen and state rangers today were held in readiness to move into either the northern or southern Colorado coal fields to "maintain peace and good order" in accordance with an executive order issued by Governor Oliver H. Shoup late yesterday following disturbances in the mining areas.

Colonel P. S. Hamrock, state adjutant general, was authorized by the governor to mobilize nine companies of the Colorado national guard and to recruit the state ranger force from its present strength of fifty to approximately 400 following receipt of reports of the burning of two railroad bridges and the damaging of mines in the coal fields Wednesday night.

The most serious damages were in the southern field, near Walsenburg, where two railroad bridges, both in the vicinity of mines owned by the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company were burned. The destruction of these bridges cut off four mines of that company from railroad communication with the rest of the state.

FOUR COURTS IS BLOWN UP

ans' hotel two lorries containing British soldiers speeding toward the north wall, were fired on by the mutineers shortly after noon today, is becoming one of the greatest danger points. The fire from the hotel was maintained throughout the morning in the direction of the Nelson Pillar, where the free staters occupy an opposing position.

The irregulars in their scattered outposts, are displaying frenzied activity.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS HELD

In Marlborough-st. they are occupying a number of houses and have made them resemble fortresses by cutting loopholes in the walls. The insurgents also are in occupation of twelve hotels and a number of public houses, school buildings, business premises, etc.

Several of these are in Parnell Square and other vantage points in Central Dublin. They have several strongholds in houses on both sides of Gardiner-st. in which a lorry load of regular troops was fired on this morning.

The newspapers appeared this morning but in abridged form. The numerous danger zones and the curtailed train services are creating much difficulty in newspaper distribution.

The street cars are continuing operations outside the danger zone, but because of the many snipers about the city these zones are numerous.

The Dublin fire brigade had 21 calls yesterday.

The cattle market was held as usual although supplies were short. The buyers got their cattle safely along the North Irish circular road to the north wall for shipment to England.

THEFT OF SUITCASE AND SHIRT CHARGED TO BOY; IS ARRESTED IN STORE

He is charged with having stolen a shirt. Sharp is also alleged to have taken a suitcase at the same store, Monday, P. H. Richards, 115 N. Jameson-av., is the complainant. Sharp was to be arraigned either Friday afternoon or Saturday.

AMBULANCE REMOVALS

BINGHAM DEVISES TIME SAVER

Phone System Evolved Speeds Official Parleys

MASS WIRE CONFERENCES

All Officials May Sit in From Own Offices

Four or more city officials may now hold conference with none of them compelled to leave their offices. C. A. Bingham, city manager, announced Friday.

Recently a conference was desired between T. A. Lanker, chief of police; John Mack, fire chief; Vaughn Miller, city engineer; and Bingham. Each of these officials was in his own office and the conference would have been delayed had it been necessary to call the meeting at the office of the city manager.

By adjustment of the telephone switchboard of the city building, each of the four men sat in their offices and talked over the matter, under discussion without the loss of a moment, Bingham said.

Under the present system it would be possible to get every official in the city building. Lanker, Mack and Mayor Harold Cunningham on the line at one time if necessary, Bingham asserts.

SYSTEM SAVES TIME

This is one of the time saving devices which are being resorted to in an effort to speed up the city departments and prevent a waste of energy and time which should be devoted to other duties.

Under the present system, John Doe calls up the fire chief and reports a leak in the water mains near a fire plug. Chief Mack gets Manager Bingham on the line and the three of them discuss the question. It may be found that Engineer Miller should be called into the conference and the telephone operator is told to put Miller on the line. Before the problem is cleared up, Water Superintendent Evans may also get into this conversation.

All this is done without one of the officials having to leave his seat in his office. At the conclusion of the conference, each official hangs up his receiver and goes back to his other duties.

Under the old plan the officials would have been required to meet at one office, thus losing much time going and coming. There would also be additional time lost in waiting for those who were detained on the street.

In the city managers' office several days ago a count was kept of the incoming and outgoing calls. Eleven calls were received in the morning and fifteen in the afternoon. The same day 14 calls were sent out in the morning and 12 in the afternoon.

Total calls passing thru the switchboard at the city building that day were 251. One hundred and forty-four were in the morning and 107 in the afternoon. There were also three toll calls.

RECORDS MAINTAINED

Daily records are being kept of all phone calls passing thru the city building and the department each call goes from or to. These records are filed with the city manager in special compartments in his desk.

In the same compartments are records of each motor car in the service of the city. Gasoline, oil and tire consumption is noted daily and the results tabulated.

Fire calls and the apparatus received and materials used by the fire department are also recorded on blanks. This is a monthly statement and is filed for ready reference.

Thru the system of card records it is expected that the work of the city departments and officials will be shown in black and white and any waste motion disclosed.

This will enable the ironing out of any rough spots and the establishment of an efficient and economical administration, Bingham believes.

OHIO NEWSPAPER MEN MEET AT CEDAR POINT

SANDUSKY — Newspaper men affiliated with papers holding membership in The Associated Press gathered at Cedar Point today from all parts of Ohio, as guests of the Sandusky Register for their first summer meeting.

In addition to discussions regarding the reporting of the coming August primary and November election a varied program of entertainment, including dinners, boat rides and other features are in store for the publishers, editors and other employees who will attend. The meeting will continue thru Saturday.

PEST DAMAGES WHEAT

THREE MEN HELD IN KILLING OF MINER

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio.—Sheriff Lynch of Belmont-co is holding three men in connection with the killing of John H. Majors, slain Tuesday while enroute to a strip coal mine where he worked as a steam shovel operator. He refused to divulge the names of the men but declared all were union men.

Neither would he state what charges would be filed against the men nor if he expected to make further arrests. He indicated that he expected to continue investigation of the case.

Four or more city officials may now hold conference with none of them compelled to leave their offices. C. A. Bingham, city manager, announced Friday.

Recently a conference was desired between T. A. Lanker, chief of police; John Mack, fire chief; Vaughn Miller, city engineer; and Bingham. Each of these officials was in his own office and the conference would have been delayed had it been necessary to call the meeting at the office of the city manager.

By adjustment of the telephone switchboard of the city building, each of the four men sat in their offices and talked over the matter, un-

RUGGED TOILERS IN ROYAL HOMES

Booted Peasants in Charge of Russian Palace

GREAT CONTRAST IS NOTED

Cabbage Soup, Black Bread
Served Amid Splendor

MOSCOW — (Associated Press)—Three hundred members of the all Russian central executive committee, the parliament of Russia, mostly peasants and workmen recently had their first glimpse of the magnificent quarters in which they have lived when in Moscow. The committee met in the great palace at Kremlin, which has not been in any way deranged during the revolution, except for the placing within its great reception hall and ball rooms of red covered wooden tables and ordinary benches which contrast startlingly with the gilded columns, marble walls, Jasper fireplaces, silk hangings and gilded and crystal chandeliers.

HAUL OF ST. GEORGE
The throne room was used as a meeting hall. The hall of St. George in white and gold with its parquet floor of rare wood, which was once a ball room where the royalty and nobility of Russia danced when in Moscow, was a lounging room tramped over by booted peasants who lined up like soldiers when the call for dinner to be served in an adjoining room was sounded. The committee members were served with cabbage soup and black bread, a meat dish and tea at tables covered with royal linen but equipped with cheap china and tin spoons. While most of the members were roughly dressed and soft shirts or blouse coats predominated, higher officials of the Soviet government who appeared to present legislation wore stiff white collars, and some of them could even be described as "smartly" attired.

INDIANS TRAINED AT U.S. CAMP

Logging Industry Conducted on Wisconsin Reservation

REDS ENCOURAGED TO WORK

Active Supervision Maintained by Government

MENOMINEE INDIAN RESERVATION, WISCONSIN. (Associated Press).—The Federal government operates, on this Indian reservation, a complete north woods logging industry, including a saw mill valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

It is a successful, money making industry, which since about 1911, has put more than two million dollars net profit in the tribal fund of the Menominee. Its purpose is not primarily to make money, but to afford an opportunity for Menominees to learn business.

This government lumber camp works in a tract of 227,000 acres of timber land, with about 50 miles of railroad to haul out the logs, and the rail head at Neopit, in the heart of the reservation. The work is conducted by white men, under the general supervision of Edgar A. Allen, superintendent of the reservation, and the logging operations under G. A. Gutches, manager of the operation, a University of Michigan man. White lumberjacks and contractors have done the largest portion of the work, for the Indians have not taken to lumbering readily.

WORK ENCOURAGED
The Menominees are encouraged not only to work in the camps and the mill for wages, but to undertake operations as jobbers on their own responsibility. Comparatively small tracts are assigned for this purpose, where an Indian undertakes to clear the land and deliver to the railroad, hiring his own help, and furnishing teams and equipment. This requires capital, skill and business ability. It is not necessary for the Indian jobbers to have capital to start. If they can convince the superintendent of their responsibility, the government advances the means for the try to make good and to become independent. There are several Indian jobbers now at work. One of these camps is conducted by a Carlisle graduate, who was a notable ball player in his college days, and who now plays summer baseball with the Neopit Indian team.

THEATRICAL MAN THERE
Among the staff of white men in the lumber camps is a former New York state theatrical man, who retired after making some money, became interested in doing supply work for the camps, studied farming out of books, and this summer has thirteen or fourteen acres under cultivation about the camps to supply fresh vegetables. Superintendent Gutches conducts the major part of the lumbering operations and watches the market for disposing of the lumber. His part of the training way is to show the Indians the right way, for he says there is one right way of getting out logs and about fifty that are wrong. He showed some of the camps a few fundamentals that raised the amount of their production something like four fold, without increasing the labor or the expense. These other loggers were not taking everything as they went, nor clearing the brush and leaving the land ready either for reforestation or farming. The brush and the occasional logs that they left multiplied their work incredibly.

Washington maintains an active supervision over the entire establishment.

PIMPLES ON FACE TWO YEARS

Also On Back. In Blotches. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble began in sort of small, white pimples on my face and back. They were in blotches and festered and scaled over. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my back, and my face was disfigured for the time being.

"The trouble lasted about two years. I tried different remedies but nothing cured me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after I had used two and a half cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." ## FIGHT FOR CANAL SURVEY WON

$125,000 Appropriated for Ohio Waterway by Congress

POMERENE, WELTY VICTORY

Lima Man Jubilant Over Prospect of Final Success

"To United States Senator Alton Pomerene belongs the greatest amount of credit for the passage by the Senate and the House in Washington of an appropriation measure carrying $125,000 for the survey of proposed canal routes," former Congressman R. F. Welty stated Friday.

Welty has been working unremittingly on the canal proposition, continuing in that direction since going out of Congress. Senator Pomerene and Welty continued the fight after others became discouraged and gave it up. Assurance of the necessary money to determine the feasibility of canal projects is said to be due mainly to their efforts in getting the propositions before the national law making body.

$125,000 FOR OHIO
"While the appropriation is for a total of $125,000," Welty said Friday, "the sum set aside for the Miami and Erie canal survey is $125,000. Reports out of Washington that $75,000 is provided for the canal which passes thru the western part of Allen-co, are wrong. The sum is $125,000," Welty said.

The Senate passed the bill with the canal item included and it was taken up and concurred in by the House. Originally the House bill contained an appropriation of $200,000, which later was increased to provide for Ohio surveys, as well as that of the Pittsburgh route.

The bill does not limit the amount that may be used for the Ohio surveys, but it is virtually certain that not less than the amount appropriated will be expended for the purpose, reports from Washington to the contrary notwithstanding. It is expected that the work will be done in a thorough manner and that no expense will be spared. Washington advices state that the survey of the Ohio routes will not require more than $75,000, but this is believed to be in error.

CANAL FRIENDS JUBILANT

Assurance that surveys of Lake Erie to Ohio river are to be made has given heart to those who have been working for the rehabilitation of the canals. The fight has been a long one, well nigh disheartening at times, Welty said.

The Lima man is confident that surveys will establish the feasibility of canal plans and that opening of the waterway to large craft will result in a vast cut in freight costs on heavy supplies, particularly coal.

STATE SEALER TO FORCE ISSUE IN CIRAS' CASES, SAY SCALES UNSEALED

J. M. Moke, state sealer of weights and measures, took steps Friday to force an issue in the cases of Lewis and William Ciras, brothers engaged in the fruit business, accused of using unsealed scales.

The cases have been pending in criminal court from May 25, when they pleaded not guilty. Arrests were made by city sealer J. W. Shorley.

Moke scored the court for permitting the cases to pend so long, but they pleaded not guilty. Arrests were made by city sealer J. W. Shorley.

WED SAME DAY OF GRADUATION

MINNEAPOLIS.—One of the sweetest graduates of the Minneapolis Central High School was Miss Florence Youngquist and that very same evening there no longer was any such person, but a blushing bride, Mrs. Norman Elvis.

The prospective bridegroom was waiting outside the auditorium in his automobile even while the commencement exercises were in progress.

Upon their conclusion Miss Youngquist, slipping away from her classmates, joined him. Straight to the minister's house the car sped. The bride still held her high school diploma in her hand as the last words of the marriage ceremony were spoken.

Declares He Had Suffered Three Years From Indigestion, Headaches And Dizziness And Only Found Relief When He Got Tanlac.

"I have only been taking Tanlac for about three weeks, but I have improved so much that I am ready right now to state that this medicine has proved a great success in my case," declared Harry Vandenberg, 223 Sagan Ave., Toledo, Ohio.

"For three years or more, I had suffered from nervous indigestion. My stomach was so upset that after meals I became almost deathly sick and was often unable to retain anything I had eaten. I had nervous sick headaches continually, was more or less affected with rheumatism in my joints, and my condition was just that miserable, half-sick no account feeling that makes work a burden."

"However, Tanlac has put me on my feet again, and I no longer have sick stomach or headaches; seldom experience any pain in my joints, and have actually gained eight pounds in weight. I am still taking Tanlac and expect to keep a bottle on hand for I see it can be depended upon for results."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists—A.L.

DRIFT OF YOUNG CAUSES ALARM

Idleness is Commented Upon By B. C. Forbes

QUOTES OTHERS ON SUBJECT

"Bad Slump" Noted by British Parliament Members

(BY B. C. FORBES)
NEW YORK — (Special) — Is he right?
Said a leading citizen of a 100,000 population town, the father of eight children, a hard intelligent worker between 50 and 60: "What I think of the outlook? Business is recovering and should do quite well once these labor troubles are settled."
"But the outlook that troubles me most is the outlook regarding our young folks, especially the sons and daughters of well rated to do parents."
"What's the matter with them?" I asked.
"The number of them who live in idleness spending all their time—and money they didn't earn in frivolity is appalling, heartbreaking," he replied. "Look around this town at lunch time or in the afternoon and note the number of automobiles driven and filled by young men and women. They're not students home on vacation. They're just idlers. Some of the young fellows make a pretense of being associated with their father's business—if that business happens to strike them as genteel. Most of them just gab around without pretending to earn a living. "As for the grade of amusements they go in for—well the effect is not conducive to the building up of clean, strong, purposeful manhood."

"As I'm supposed to be on vacation—my first real vacation in half a dozen years—I went to the golf course this afternoon. I must confess that I was astounded at the number of youngish men there during business hours.
My observations elsewhere rather confirmed the truth of the citizen's depressing statements concerning the younger generation.

You may recall that Sir Charles Higham, the British member of parliament recently declared in this column that the one thing which counted and saddened him most on his current trip to this country was the demeanor of the younger people on their way to work in the morning. Last time he was here some years ago they looked bright, sprightly, energetic, enthusiastic. Now he said they looked and acted as if they were tired, bored, disgusted at having to drag themselves to work. "Your young folk strike me as having had a bad slump," he said.

Now we all know that everywhere we go we hear and read about the ongoings of our bobbed hair flappers and our spinster, pleasure chasing purposeless youths. Also about the shortcomings of domestic responsibilities by the so-called "better-class" married couples. And it maybe there is occasion for alarm.

For example the citizen already quoted also said: "There's a scarcity of unskilled workers in this city but the park benches are crowded every day with the out of works who would rather stay idle and go into debt than take any kind of work they could get, as you and I would gladly do if we were in their shoes."

After pondering the whole matter, some of my reflections are these—see if they in any way agree with your's:

True, frivolity appears to be flagrantly rampant. Yet were ever such numbers of young men and young women graduated from our colleges and universities as are graduating this year?

Did American colleges and universities ever before have so many youths earning their education?

Were evening classes ever half as well attended years ago as they are now?

women now regularly attend such classes and industriously strive to improve their qualifications and their status?

Again our libraries tell us that the demand for business and other serious books has in recent years exceeded all former records.

And what of the amazing growth of correspondence schools and similar organizations supplying education to young men and men no longer young. The Alexander Hamilton Institute and the LaSalle Extension University, the International Correspondence School, etc., are all expanding at an extraordinary rate.

Here's the explanation as I see it. This eager demand for education comes largely, not from the sons and daughters of the well to do, but from those in humbler circumstances, just as a great many of the highest scholastic honors are won by children and youths born of working class parents, including a conspicuous number of the immigrant classes.

Nor is there race suicide among the poorer people.

What does this portend? That the energetic, the ambitious, the purposeful youths of obscure origin are fitting themselves to displace the gilded youths who are reveling in idleness and frivolity.

Also that the unchildlike, plutocratic families of today will submerge.

The process of from-shirt-sleeves-to-shirt-sleeves-in-three-generations is going on. In other words the fittest are fitting themselves to survive and the unfit are dancing and frolicking their way to destruction. Perhaps after all there's no reason for becoming tremendously excited over it. In the end we'll get just about what we earn.

For example the citizen already quoted also said: "There's a scarcity of unskilled workers in this city but the park benches are crowded every day with the out of works who would rather stay idle and go into debt than take any kind of work they could get, as you and I would gladly do it if we were in their shoes."

After pondering the whole matter, some of my reflections are these—see if they in any way agree with yours:
True, frivolity appears to be flagrantly rampant. Yet were ever such numbers of young men and young women graduated from our colleges and universities as are graduating this year?
Did American colleges and universities ever before have so many youths earning their education? Were evening classes ever half as well attended years ago as they are now?
Then take business organizations. How many of them had educational classes in the olden days and how many thousand of young men and women now regularly attend such classes and industriously strive to improve their qualifications and their status?

Again our libraries tell us that the demand for business and other serious books has in recent years exceeded all former records.
And what of the amazing growth of correspondence schools and similar organizations supplying education to young men and men no longer young. The Alexander Hamilton Institute and the LaSalle Extension University, the International Correspondence School, etc., are all expanding at an extraordinary rate.

Here's the explanation as I see it. This eager demand for education comes largely, not from the sons and daughters of the well to do, but from those in humbler circumstances, just as a great many of the highest scholastic honors are won by children and youths born of working class parents, including a conspicuous number of the immigrant classes.

Nor is there race suicide among the poorer people.

What does this portend? That the energetic, the ambitious, the purposeful youths of obscure origin are fitting themselves to displace the gilded youths who are revelling in idleness and frivolity. Also that the unchildrened, plutocratic families of today will submerge.

The process of from-shirt-sleeves-to-shirt-sleeves-in-three-generations is going on. In other words the fit test are fitting themselves to survive and the unfit are dancing and frolicking their way to destruction. Perhaps after all there's no reason for becoming tremendously excited over it. In the end we'll get just about what we earn.

OPEN LETTERS

To Our City Manager

DEAR CLARENCE: I would like to see you hitch up one of the municipal gas wagons and take a confrere of mine a ride. It is this guy who now and then speaks slightly of your work. If you would jump him about and show him a few of the streets that are now spick and span; point out what Uncle Charlie Evans has been doing on Main-st without gabbing about it; show him the streets where water and gas lines are laid anew and connections made at the curb even to vacant lots, mayhap he might take a reef in himself. And oh, Clarence, also floor him with the fact that Lima city has actually operated at a saving of $23,000 for this half year, as compared to the political way.

LIMA BEANE.

To Mayor Cunningham

DEAR BRUD: Presumption, I'd call it, the state board of health asking if my city is able to finance the proposed sewage disposal plant proposition. The very idea!

I trust you have written them a sharp letter.

LIMA BEANE.

To Capt. R. B. Kerr, Cavalryman

DEAR CAP: I watched closely to see if they kidnaped you, but if they did the press didn't find it out. Now drop me a postal from Niagara Falls and be sure and get the one showing the Canadian drop. But don't try the Lady of the Mist, and eat your meals on the American side. It's safer for a groom, as the blooming stuff ages in the wood after leaving Montreal.

LIMA BEANE.

To Sheriff Baxter
To Lima Police

DEAR BOYS: Newspaper accounts inform me that you are in a jangle over the question of whether it is the duty of the city or county officers to act in cases where dogs depart from the straight and narrow canine way and sink their fangs in my people in Lima.

I would suggest that instead of endeavoring to unload responsibility that you try co-operation.

LIMA BEANE.

To Babe Ruth

DEAR BABY: You are rightly named. You're somewhat like Secretary of War Weeks. He seems to believe it's a lot of nerve on the part of people to tell Congress what sort of laws are wanted. You appear to think it's nerry for the public which supports baseball to say anything about it.

LIMA BEANE.

DEAR HUNCH PLAYERS: A youth was sent to the reformatory for forging checks to obtain money for gambling. This is mentioned to emphasize the fact that you can't beat 'em.

LIMA BEANE.

To A. V. Donahey

DEAR VIC: Campaign promises are easy to make, but I trust you mean exactly what you say when you promise, if nominated and elected Governor, that you will reduce the state property tax levy and bring about an old-fashioned house-cleaning in government to promote strict economy.

The state sure needs it. Go to it.

No matter how wretched times get there's allus plenty ads for good salamen. The only time mean people smile is when they're hurt.

my wife, poor wretch, broke their fast in intimate in their boudoir. So out to a brave morning, the first super person I did see being the ever pleasant A. D. Hildreth, district manager of the Rock of Gibraltar company. He is his motor coach. And abroad, did meet and speak with Frank Metheny, the veteran railroader. When the C. H. & D. shops here were our main industrial institution and Frank the chief clerk to the boss. Thence to the office, whence came Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor excellency of the Lincoln Memorial. Soon to show pictures of the mountaineers at a local theatre. And with him two charming assistants, one of literary tastes.

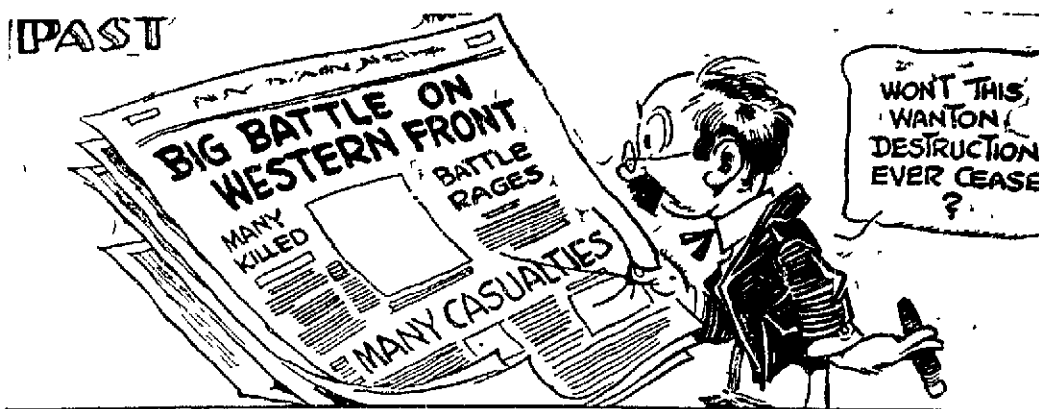

Thence came anon, with their passing, the Hon Matthew R. Denver, one of our olden time bankers. With a treasury house the equal of that found in Trinity church district. He, the son of General J. W. Denver, from whom Colorado took the name for its capital. And "Matt," as we called him for pastime a few years ago, agreed to enter politics. This way. He a democrat. The district for Congress, 7,000 Republican. His opponent, Charles Q. Hildebrandt from the same town, later secretary of state. He, then himself in congress. So says the Hon. Matt, I'll run, but I'll stay here in the bank. No campaigning for me. If they want me, they take me. If they don't, I'm still here smilin' and selling six and eight per cents. A noble way to make a campaign. And what did the district do? It all but made it unanimous. An accident, said the republicans. So, two years hence, again. And this time it was unanimous Matt, (a democrat in an ultra-repub. district) after being kept in Washington, two, six, eight, years, said, "I'm tired; they'll never let me go back home to the bank." So, he no more would run. And then Sim Fess, republican, got the job. And Gentleman Matt went back home to his farm, his bank, his horses, and in fact the town of Wilmington, if he wants it. A Virginian of the old school—courtly, devoted, prince of the days when knighthood was in flower.

To lunch at The Elks, with Bro. John as my guest. Served well on beef with au gratin potatoes, a tomato salad, and a parfait for the sweet. Bro. John now has a new dog, a new colt tipped to trot 2.18 later, later, repeat it; a new house; a new motor coach, a new sister-in-law and a printing office. What more could a poor relative ask? In the evening, saw many and interesting folk on the boulevard, all joyful, and the world seeming merry. So home to read in the Red Book about twenty boxes of gold, a lurid tale of diplomacy. Albeit, thinking in rubles, to bed.

To Dr. John Wesley Hill

DEAR DOCTOR, YOUR EXCELLENCY, THE CHANCELLOR: Am glad to note you have been working in our midst, in the interests of literacy for the mountain boys and girls. ## POEMS YOU WILL ENJOY

BY BERTON BRADLEY

SURE FIRE
The broad generalities seldom apply
To all individual cases,
Here's one you can bank on—it won't go awry.

It's true of all colors, all races;
So, this is the counsel—with sweet-
heart or wife,
Be lavish with phrases endearing,
They're something that she, thru the length of her life,
Will never grow weary of hearing;
The fact that you love her, your actions may show,
But nevertheless, keep on telling
her so!

She may call you silly, but deep in her breast,
The glow of her love waxes brighter;
That little "I love you," sincerely
expressed,
Is certain and sure to delight her.
She may say "You softee," and
"Don't be absurd,"
But—note the warm light that's appearing
Way back in her eyes when again
she has heard
The words that she wants to be hearing.
Be wise; if you love her, wherever you go
Just keep on repeatedly telling
her so.

The frequent cases where passion has waned,
You never will find among such
A suit where the wife of her husband complained
He told her he loved her too much;
It thrills her in heart and in spirit,
No matter how often your love
may be told,
She always is ready to hear it.
Oh, man, if you love her, keep letting her know,
Keep always, eternally telling her
so!

HEALTH TALKS

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

TYPHOID FEVER

There always is a great deal of typhoid fever during the vacation season, because people on trips or out camping forget their accustomed health habits and eat food and drink water, the sources of which may be unknown.

Every typhoid case comes from a previous case or from a person who has had the disease and still carries the germs.

Sometimes this happens by direct contact; sometimes the infection is transmitted indirectly, by water, milk or other foods.

In milk, the germs not only live but multiply, so that we should be particularly careful about the milk we drink. If we don't know how it is produced and handled, we should insist on pasteurization. We should insist also on knowing whether the water we use is pure. If there is any doubt, the water should be boiled. Take a supply of pure water with you on motor or camping trips if possible.

Typhoid germs often pass from hand to hand and from hand to mouth, so keep your fingers and everything else except your table utensils out of your mouth. Files may be carriers of typhoid, for they fly from filth to food. Screens help to keep them out, but the only way to deal with them successfully is to prevent them from breeding.

Since we cannot always know who prepares our food and are many times dependent on the cleanliness of those who serve us, there is but one way to be absolutely sure of avoiding typhoid and that is by taking the typhoid preventive treatment. It is very simple, requiring but one small inoculation weekly for three successive weeks.

FIRST SCENES OF PAGEANT TONIGHT

Mammoth Entertainment Feature to Open at Fair Grounds

LAST EPISODE ON TUESDAY

Promoters Believe Affair Will be Big Success

Plans are practically completed for the first performance of the Allen-co Historical Pageant at the fair grounds Friday night. In all parts of the city groups could be seen Friday evening, finishing touches on the part they will take in the performance. More than 1,000 people will be in the cast.

A meeting of the cast and several of the larger groups was held at the fair grounds Thursday evening.

Sets for the scenes, chairs for the spectators and hundreds of electric lights were being installed Friday. As the time for the first performance draws near, the committee is confident that it will be one of the largest and most beautiful pageants ever staged in northwestern Ohio.

BEFORE WAR SCENES
For the first performance history up to the civil war will be reviewed. This is divided into 11 scenes and shows all events of historic interest in that period.

Some one will show the Hull cabin during an attack by the Indians. This was one of the first settlements in this section of the state and the cabins were destroyed and Hull killed.

More success crowns the efforts of the settlers in the second scene. The Indians are repulsed and forced to sign treaties with the white men. Peity's victory on Lake Erie and the celebration following it are to be shown in the third scene. A messenger will bring the news of the victory and the rejoicing will begin.

Birth of Susannah Russell and the work of Johnny Appleseed will be seen in the fourth episode. Old time fiddlers and other early events will be pictured.

Establishment of Allen-co by the state legislature and the naming of Lima are shown in episodes five and six. Ohio City, Castown, Amanda Queen, Harrisonville, Victory and Lee-Jah were the names proposed. Village life and sports with a political rally are to be shown in scenes seven and eight. An old time speech by Patrick Goode will be reproduced.

Election of the first mayor, Henry De Villiers Williams, an old time election and celebration afterwards will be shown in episode nine.

FIRST WEDDING
Replica of the wedding of John Saxon and Nancy Jones, the first in Allen-co, comes in the tenth scene and the first circus in Lima will be pictured in episode 11, closing the first performance.

Hines of J. L. Shaffer, director has handicapped the committee somewhat in the final preparations for the pageant, but all difficulties have been cleared up and the performance will go on without a hitch, they say.

Tickets have been distributed throughout the city and may be obtained from the groups working on the pageant. They will also be obtainable at the fair grounds.

Performance will start at 8 p. m. each day. They will start promptly to permit the lengthy performance to be completed.

Following the performance July 4 there will be a display of fireworks. Special apparatus is being sought and a very fine display is planned, the committee states.

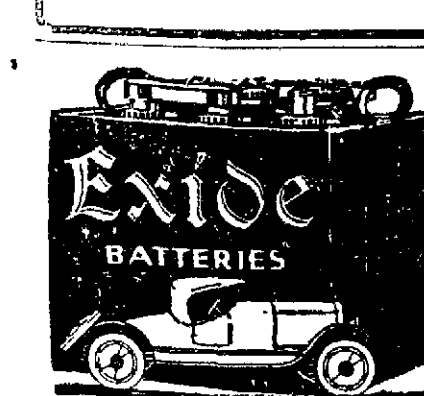

Allen-co citizens will have an opportunity to help choose the "Queen" of the Pageant who is to be crowned on the evening of July 1.

Coupons are to be placed in the Sunday Lima News and each person permitted to aid in the selection. Votes will be received by the committee Monday and the result announced at the coronation Tuesday night.

MEN AND MATTERS
Howard F. Webb, connected with the laboratory department of St. Rita's hospital, will spend Sunday in Toledo as the guest of Dr. Paul Holmes.

Postmaster A. E. Gale is absent from the city on a short vacation. He and several friends are fishing in Ohio and Michigan lakes.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR SALVATION ARMY TAG DAY EVENT SATURDAY

From various sources assistance has come to aid Adjutant C. Cuthbert, in charge of the local branch of the Salvation Army, for the Tag day which the army will stage Saturday, July 1.

Bills which must be met before the annual campaign to fill the Salvation Army treasury is held this fall, will be met by funds secured from tag day.

The small emblem, which to the poor and sick of the city, without money, means so much, will be used on the tags which will be sold on Lima's streets Saturday.

The organization especially endeavored to prevent pangs of cold weather from overtaking little children and poor families the past winter. While husbands and fathers were trying to secure groceries, the Salvation Army was assisting in providing warm clothing for all the members of needy families.

Records of the organization are open and Adjutant Cuthbert says he will be glad to confer with anyone who wishes to understand more fully the good work which has been done.

COUNTY, CITY WAR ABOUT GARBAGE

County Healthers Discuss Disposition of City Waste

Question of disposal of garbage which is annoying Allen-co residents because of alleged failure of the City of Lima to care for garbage, was the question of discussion, at the monthly meeting of the Allen-co Health district board at Memorial hall, Friday afternoon.

Efforts of Dr. John J. Sutter, county health commissioner, to make any arrangements with City Manager Bingham for disposal of city's garbage has caused the county to be forced, it is feared, to resort to stringent means to prevent dumping of the city's refuse upon the county. According to Dr. Sutter, Bingham has declared he does not think any action will be taken by the city commission regarding passage of an ordinance for caring for the garbage of the city in a legal manner.

Dr. Sutter is equally concerned that Lima shall not tread upon Allen-co in dumping its waste there, he says. County commissioners have employed sanitary policemen to arrest any offenders. Dr. Sutter declares it has been customary for residents of the city who own automobiles to carry the garbage a few miles into the country and deposit it along county highways.

CITY APPEALS GAS RATE TO COURT

Files Petition in Error Against Utility Body Order

A petition in error from the decision of the state public utilities commission on the question of $1 gas was filed by the city of Lima in the Ohio Supreme court, Friday.

In a recent appeal to the commission for a reopening of the case the city's petition was rejected. The only course open for further action is the supreme court, Friday, city solicitor said.

In the petition 18 specific grounds of error are set up by the city. They were in abbreviated form and will be followed by a brief giving in full the city's contentions, Landis said.

Among the contentions of the city it is claimed that the commission visited Lima "after all the evidence was in and the case closed" for the purpose of inspecting the property of the Lima Natural Gas Co. "Small openings and exposing only a few feet of pipe" were made and no thorough examination attempted by the members of the state commission, the petition charges.

A secret agreement between the Lima company and the Medina Gas and Fuel Co., was permitted by the commission, it is charged in the petition.

Authority was given the city solicitor at a recent meeting of the city commission to ask for a reopening of the gas question with the utilities commission.

Should the fall, the case was to be carried to the state supreme court and an attempt made to set aside the award of $1 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas made by the commission. Should the award of the state commission be set aside by the court, the city hopes to enforce its ordinance allowing a much lower rate to the company.

Landis has 70 days in which to file the complete brief of the charges of error against the findings of the commission. He was not in a position to say Friday how soon the brief would be filed.

It is expected that it will be several months or perhaps a year before the case will be finally argued before the supreme court. Meanwhile the award of $1 gas stands.

TROOPERS RETURN

Captain Oscar Dupes and five men of the local unit of the Ohio National Guard Co. G, returned Friday from Camp Perry, near Toledo, where with other militiamen from the entire state they received instructions relative to the opening in three weeks of the summer camp. The main purpose of the assembly is rifle practice.

CITY SAVES BIG MONEY IN PURCHASE AND TESTING OF CAST IRON WATER PIPE

Testing of about 26 tons of cast iron water main fittings will cost the city but $20, Harry N. Osgood, purchasing agent, said Friday.

In accepting the lowest bid for these fittings it was decided that inasmuch as the company had just started in the pipe manufacturing business and had quoted very low prices, the test should be carried on. American waterworks standards are the rule by which the tests were made and are very strict. Out of the 26 tons only 406 pounds was rejected, Osgood said.

Savings to date on these fittings, due to the bids being under the market prices, have aggregated $494. Total savings may run as high as $1,000, he believes. In letting the orders for the fittings, prices considerably lower than those offered by the cast iron pipe "trust" were quoted by the independent company. It was feared at first that weak pipe might be foisted on the city, but tests show that it is of very high quality, Osgood said.

BRIDGE TEA HELD AT ENGLISH HOME HAS MANY GUESTS

MRS. Henry B. English, 905 W. Elm-st., and her daughter, Mrs. Howard F. Webb, were charming hostesses Friday, when they opened the English home to a company of close friends for a bridge party and tea.

Choice blossoms from garden, wood and field were used in decorations of the rooms, there being a profusion of snapdragons, phlox and fuchsias in baskets and bowls. At vantage points feathery ferns raised their proud heads to add to the charming, natural scene.

Carrying out the idea that the anniversary of independence day is upon us, baskets were tied in tulle of the national colors and flags and bunting mingled with the pretty garden flowers. Miniature flags decorated the ice cream in the tea which was served, following the games. Small tables, at which play was enjoyed, held pretty bouquets of flowers.

In one corner of the room there was a work basket, where those guests who did not care for cards chatted and plied their needles as the afternoon hours flitted away.

Miss Queen Long assisted in serving the tea. Enjoying the charming hospitality of Mrs. English and Mrs. Webb and the delightful atmosphere in which the party was held were Mrs. John H. Blattemberg, Mrs. Charles Hoyer, Mrs. H. E. Scheldine, Mrs. William Avers, Mrs. Charles D. Gamble, Mrs. J. R. Welch, Mrs. Vernon Fisher, Mrs. Glenn Butler, Mrs. Paul Stuber, Mrs. William F. Miss Aileen O'Brien, 869 N. Main-st., entertained at her home, Thursday evening, quite informally, as a courtesy to Miss Marie Clancy, whose marriage to Edward A. Hoitz, Huntington, Ind., will be an event of next Wednesday. Music, games and contests were enjoyed. Members of the G. K. W. club composed the company, among whom were Dalphine Axline, Kate Dille, Mary Kane, Bonnie Reed and Juanita Cantigny. Supper was served before guests departed for their homes.

The marriage of Miss Lodema Fay Pennell and Harry Andrew Westbay, took place at the home of the bride's mother, 1064 Reese-av., Thursday evening. The Rev. Webster C. Spayde, pastor of Bethany Lutheran church, was the officiating clergyman. There was no attendance. The ceremony was celebrated in the presence of immediate relatives. The ring ceremony was used. Mr. Westbay, who is a car repairer, has made his home with the Pennell family for some months. It was in this way the romance begun, finally ended in taking of the solemn vows. Mr. and Mrs. Westbay will receive their friends at 1064 Reese-av.

Mrs. S. M. Williams, 1534 Lakewood-av., has returned from Cedar Point, where she attended a meeting of committees of the Parent-Teachers association, held in connection with the meeting of the Ohio State Teachers' association. ## OUR FIRST YEAR

BY A BRIDE

MRS. HERROD'S LETTERS—THE SECRET IS OUT

So Bonny entered upon her first year as my own was completed. Bonny was going to find out at the start what poverty means. And Jack and I, who had more than ordinary advantages, owing to Jack's industry and thrift, had landed in bankruptcy.

Bonny was going to be happy ever afterward. But was I ever going to be happy again?

I would have starved for my husband or with him. And yet I had been unable to withstand the luxuries other girls had.

I hadn't been able to practice ordinary economies to help him. In the short prosperity of our first year I had shown the wisdom of a baby. Bankrupt and jobless, Jack had come to his senses and made me face a few hard facts and the hard test was this: No longer by a kiss and caress could I turn him from serious discussion of our welfare or persuade him to let me have my own way.

The shock of this discovery was a tonic. If Jack would no longer humor me as a child wife I would better behave like a woman.

"And instead of childishly wondering what is in Mrs. Herrod's letters," said I to me, "why not ask Jack?"

Market-st. took place Thursday at 10:45 a. m. at the manse of Trinity Methodist church. The Rev. J. M. Hill, assistant pastor of Trinity church was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was handsomely gowned in silver gray silk, simple fashioned, and whose only trimming was tiny ruschels of the same material. She wore a picture hat of pink and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Vivian Bair, Van Wert, bridesmaid, wore peach organdie. Harry Conrad, Lima, was best man. It was a pretty thought of the bride to have the only sister of the bridegroom in the wedding party. She wore a pretty costume of blue crepe satin.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Here tables held baskets of pink and lavender sweet peas, tied in tulle of like colors, and with appointments to correspond. Only immediate families of the interesting couple were seated at the breakfast.

After a motor trip of ten days in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Davis will receive their friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Downing. The bride has been for four years past assistant librarian at the public library. She is a graduate of Lima, High school. Mr. Davis is connected with the Acme File & Mangle company.

A delightful dinner, with handsome appointments, was the closing social arrangement which members of the Emerald club enjoyed Thursday evening. The Bar Hotel, with its pretty furnishings and cool, spacious rooms, was the place selected.

A color scheme of pink and gold was carried out in the table decorations and in the menu. Cards were enjoyed following the dinner, in which Mrs. Frank Derck and Mrs. I. J. Palmer held high score and Mrs. N. A. Burke was consoled.

Grouped about the board were Mrs. G. H. Boyle, Mrs. Phil. Minge, Mrs. H. J. Burke, Mrs. T. P. Doyle, Mrs. N. A. Burke, Mrs. Coes, Mrs. Fred Goes, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Frank Derck, Mrs. Mauer, Mrs. Theodore Graff, Mrs. I. J. Palmer, Mrs. C. A. Calacoh, Mrs. F. K. Parsons and Mrs. A. F. Fraser.

with characteristic brevity. (I suppose I ought to add that my husband gave up playing chess with Mrs. Herrod. He did not. I wouldn't let him.)

I sat up suddenly.

"Jack! You remember that night in the pines? When you saw my suit and new hat?"

Jack stood up quickly. I had awakened a memory which hurt him, hurt cruelly. But he was not going to let it ruin our lives. He was far more generous than I. I hastened to explain:

"The girl who wore my clothes was Bonny! But I wouldn't tell you."

Not as long as I had Mrs. Herrod's letters on my mind. I was going to swap fair—

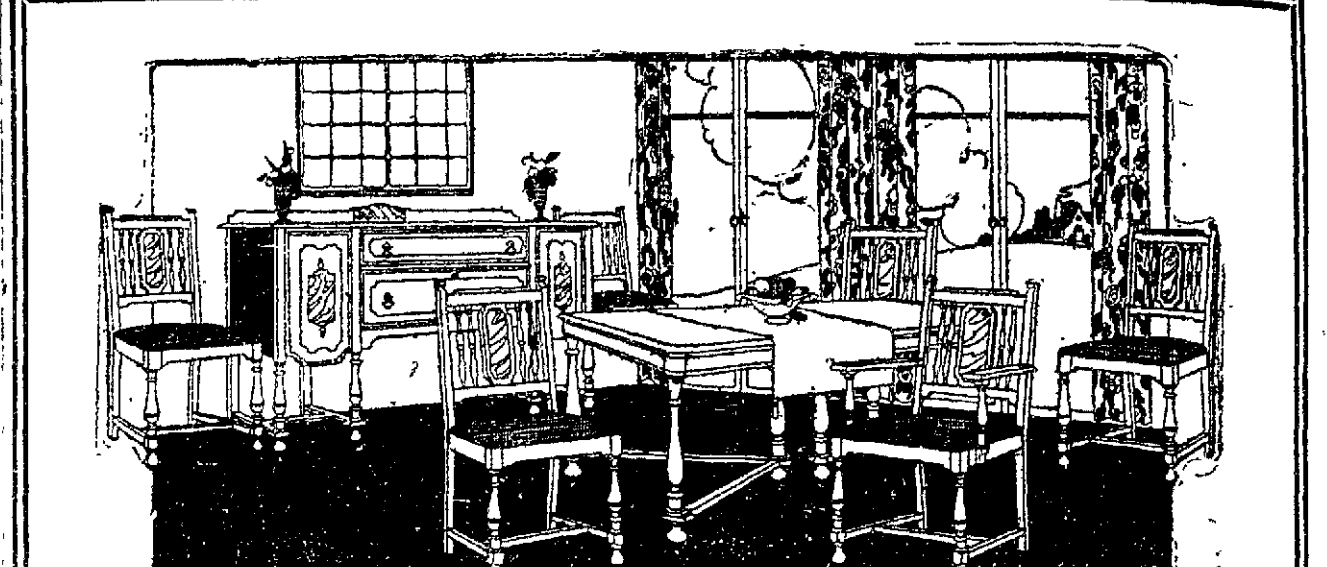

Jack attempted to silence me with kisses, but his tenderness only made me sob the harder.

"I've been horrid, Jack. But I'm going to begin all over, Jack, with our second year."

"I've been a thrifless little wife. But I've learned. You'll see how I can save—when we get another job."

"Meantime, dearest, we'll manage to scrape along any old way. Because I have decided that I will not take Barnick's money!"

SCARAMOUCHE

By RAFAEL SABATINI

To escape hanging on the charge of peddling, ANDRE-LOUIS MOREAU flees from his native town of Gavrilac and hides his identity as a member of a band of strolling players in which he makes a great success in the character of SCARAMOUCHE.

His flight has caused him to delay revenge on the great and powerful MARQUIS DE LA TOUR D'AZAY, who tricked Andre's dearest friend, PHILIPPE, DE VILMORIN, a divinity student, into a duel and then killed him because he feared the idealist's "dangerous gift of eloquence."

Over the dead body of his friend, Andre-Louis swore to carry on his work of reforming the lot of the peasants.

Scaramouche, as Andre-Louis is now called, falls in love with CLIMENE, daughter of the owner of the troupe, and tries to forget the beautiful ALINE DE KIRCADOU, whom he thinks, will marry the Marquis. Climene treats him with coldness.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"And so, you find me cruel?" Climene challenged him at length. Andre-Louis looked at her with a half-smile.

"You have grown weary of your part of cruel madam—a dull part, believe me, and unworthy of your talents. Were I a woman and had I your loveliness and your grace, Climene, I should disdain to use them as weapons of offense."

"Loveliness and grace?" she echoed, feigning amused surprise. But the vain baggage was mollified. "When was it that you discovered this beauty and this grace, M. Scaramouche?"

"One morning when I beheld you rehearsing a love-scene with Leandre."

"Why, that was the first time you saw me?"

"I had no earlier occasion to remark your charms."

"You ask me to believe too much," said she, but her tone was softer than he had ever known it yet.

"Then you'll refuse to believe me if I confess that it was this grace and beauty that determined my destiny that day by urging me to join your father's troupe."

At that she became a little out-of-breath. There was no longer any question of finding an outlet for resentment. Resentment was all forgotten.

"But why? With what object?"

"With the object of asking you one day to be my wife."

"You go very fast, don't you," she asked him, with heat.

"I do. Haven't you observed it? I am a man of sudden impulses. I have curbed and repressed myself not to scare you by precipitancy. I have waited—oh! so patiently—until you should tire of that mood of cruelty."

Mechanically, and as if by tacit consent, they resumed their walk.

"And I ask you to observe," he said, "when you complain that I go very fast, that, after all, I have so far asked you for nothing."

"How?" quoth she, frowning.

"I have merely told you of my hopes."

It was his self-possession that exasperated her; for after that she walked the short remainder of the way in silence, and so, for the moment, the matter was left just there.

But that night, after they had supped, it chanced that when Climene was about to retire, he and she were alone together in the room above stairs that her father kept exclusively for his company.

As Climene now rose to withdraw for the night, Scaramouche rose with her to light her candle. Holding it in her left hand, she offered him her right, a long, tapering, white hand at the end of a softly rounded arm that was bare to the elbow.

Thus a moment, then he took the tips of her fingers in his grasp and bowing over the hand, he pressed his lips upon it. Then he looked at her again. The intense femininity of her lured him on, invited him, surrendered to him.

By the hand he continued to hold, he drew her toward him. She came unresisting. He took the candle from her, and set it down on the sideboard by which she stood. The next moment her slight, lithe body was in his arms, and he was kissing her, murmuring her name as if it were a prayer.

"Am I cruel now?" she asked him, panting. He kissed her again for only answer. "You made me cruel because you would not see," she told him next in a whisper.

And then the door opened, and M. Binet came in to have his paternal eyes regaled by this highly indecorous behavior of his daughter. "And what may be the meaning of this?" demanded M. Binet, bewildered and profoundly shocked.

"Does it require explaining?" asked Scaramouche. "It means that Climene and I have taken it into our heads to be married."

"And doesn't it matter what I may take into my head?"

"Of course. But you could have neither the bad taste nor the bad heart to offer any obstacle."

"You take that for granted? Aye, that is your way, to be sure—to take things for granted. You have done an unworthy thing, Scaramouche. You have betrayed my trust in you. I am very angry with you."

He rolled forward with his ponderous yet curiously mischievous Scaramouche turned to Climene, smiling, and handed her the candle.

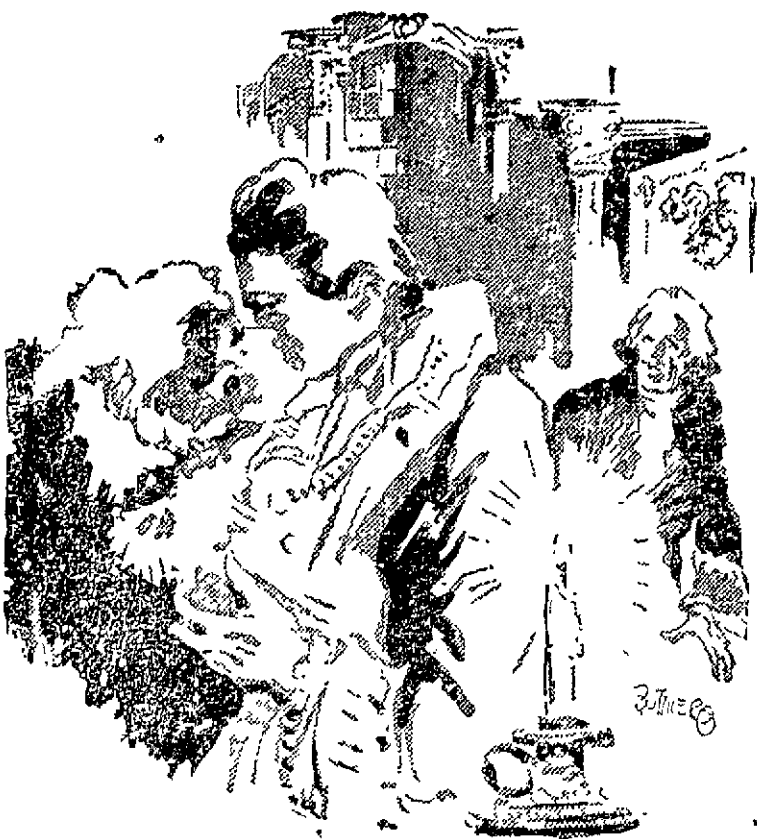

"If you will leave us, Climene, I will ask your hand of your father in proper form."

She vanished a little flustered, lovelier than ever in her mixture of confusion and timidity. Scaramouche closed the door and faced the enraged M. Binet, who had flung himself into an armchair.

"Father-in-law," said he, "I congratulate you. This will certainly mean the Comedie Francaise for Climene, and that before long, and you shall shine in the glory she will reflect. As the father of Madame Scaramouche you may yet be famous."

"You're a damned corsair," he cried, thickly, banging his hand-like fist upon the table. "A corsair! First you sail in and plunder me of half my legitimate gains; and now you want to carry off my daughter. But I'll be damned if I'll give her to a graceless, unscrupulous scoundrel like you, for whom the galleys are waiting already."

Scaramouche pulled the bell-rope, and at all discomposed. He smiled. There was a flush on his cheeks and a gleam in his eyes. He was very pleased with the world that night. He really owed a great debt to M. de Lesdigulieres.

"AM I CRUEL NOW?" SHE ASKED HIM, PANTING

"Binet," said he, "forget for once that you are Pantaloon, and behave as a nice, amiable father-in-law should behave when he has secured a son-in-law of exceptional merits."

CHAPTER VII

The Binet Troupe opened in Nantes—as you may discover in surviving copies of the "Courier Nantais"—on the Feast of the Purification with "Les Fourberies de Scaramouche."

For Scaramouche himself the opening success was not confined to the public. At the end of the play a great reception awaited him from his companions assembled in the green room of the theater.

On the following night they played "The Shy Lover" to a full house, the fame of their debut having gone abroad, and the success of Monday was confirmed.

After breakfast the following morning, Andre-Louis and Climene sallied forth to take the air upon the quays. Columbine tactlessly joined them as they were settling out, the matters were improved a little when Harlequin came running after them, and attached himself to Columbine.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

FIREFLY JOINS TWINS' QUEST

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

They landed right beside Lily Pond and there was old Granddaddy Firefly sulking.

Down to the earth slid Nancy and Nick to hunt Mr. Peerbout, the lost Man-in-the-Moon.

They landed right beside Lily Pond, and there was old Granddaddy Firefly sulking.

"What's the matter, Granddaddy?" asked Nancy. "Is anybody sick?"

"No," said Granddaddy. "Unless it's I. I'm sick of everything."

"Why, what's wrong?" asked Nancy kindly. "I should think you'd be happy on such a lovely night. It's just like Fairyland here. Everything smells so sweet and perfumy. And the crickets and tree frogs are singing and it's so quiet and comfy and everything."

Granddaddy buzzed his wings and flew around the grass stalk he'd been sitting on.

"I'll tell you all about it," he said. "You know how it is in this world. Folks like to get credit for what they do and they don't like other people to interfere with their right. Do you agree with me?"

Nick said he did, tho he wasn't quite sure just what Granddaddy meant.

"It's the Moon," explained Granddaddy sulkily. "I hate it. When it shines, as it's doing tonight, nobody can see my light. I wish the Moon and everything on it were in Guinea, wherever that is."

"Oh!" cried Nancy. "Then you won't wish to help us, Granddaddy. You see we are after Mr. Peerbout, the Man-in-the-Moon. He's lost."

"You don't say so," exclaimed Granddaddy in surprise, lighting on Nancy's shoulder, the better to hear. "Where do you s'pose he's gone?"

"We don't know," said Nancy. "Comet-Legs, his enemy, shoved him off the Moon and says he's going to turn the Moon square."

"Well, I'll help you anyway," offered Granddaddy. "We surely don't want a square Moon-Man. The old Moon was good enough."

"Then you didn't mean what you said about wishing it was in Guinea."

did you?" said Nancy quickly. "N olde'd re'ad me m e e"

"No!" declared Granddaddy. "I guess I didn't. Things might be worse."

CITY STREETS IN TORNUP STATE

Looks Like Big Guns Have Been Bombarding Lima

IMPROVEMENTS UNDER WAY

Big Sums Paid to Workers Seek Channels of Trade

To one who is flying about three hundred feet in the air above the city of Lima, the impression of the city should be somewhat similar to that of a French village after German guns were trying to find the range of the buildings and succeeded only in dropping shells in the open places between them.

Lima today is covered from end to end with little squads of workmen industriously engaged in patching up the somewhat narrow strips of pavement that are called streets.

In other places, workmen are engaged in the all important task of laying new asphalt over areas that once rivalled the worst mud road in the country.

Still other places claim the attention of city workers who are tearing up perfectly good pavement in order to reach below the surface where hidden defects in perhaps the water or sewage system demand attention.

STREETS TORN UP

For nearly three weeks, now, Main-st has looked much like someone was trying to invade the eastern part of the city and trenches had been dug in the very street in an effort to stem the mythical advance. The breastworks there continue from High-st to North-st at the present time. A week ago, the square proved one boundary and High-st the other.

Workmen there are putting in a new watermain—and it is said, are establishing records in doing it. Pieces-st between High and North-sts is being treated to its first modern touching-up process. That strip of the street in front of Central high school is being paved with asphalt.

North-st, between Main and Elizabeth-sts, is temporarily closed to traffic while workmen are carefully peeling wornout layers of asphalt from concrete base, preparatory to patching up the holes. A smoother street, it is predicted, will result.

At Collett and Wayne-sts, just enough space has been left on Wayne for the city cars to get across the space comfortably. Sewer work is still under way there, as it is in Collett and Spring-sts, where the street is practically blocked to traffic.

Throughout the city, similar work is being done on streets. In many places homes are under construction. Business men point to the significance of much activity with smiles. The number of men who are given work on the improvements under way is hailed by them with joy. They predict better business, general improvement in commercial conditions and a tendency towards things normal, if factories in the city will open as expected.

Similarly they point to the country road program as a great aid to conditions in general, once it gets fully under way.

YOUR JOB

By ELIZABETH ARNOLD
Employment Expert

When there is an abnormal demand for workers any boy or girl with an eighth grade education can go out and find a position with ease.

When, however, the demand is slack and what is called a buyer's market prevails, and employers are building up their personnel, this group is apt to be the first to be released and has the greatest difficulty in finding new openings.

The young worker with high school training, mature enough to use his responsibility is the last one the progressive employer releases. This is the group he looks to for the future. If you expect to do office work, stay in school or go to night school. Get a high school education—it pays in dollars and cents.

American Women Are Careless

Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When feeling well they take unnecessary chances, which in the long run cause much pain and trouble. Wet feet, exposure to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing remedy in such cases. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. # SCARAMOUCHE

By RAFAEL SABATINI

To escape hanging on the charge of sedition, ANDRE-LOUIS MOREAU flees from his native town of Gavrilac and hides his identity as a member of a band of strolling players in which he makes a great success in the character of SCARAMOUCHE.

His flight has caused him to delay revenge on the great and powerful MARQUIS DE LA TOUR D'AUR, who tricked Andre's dear friend, PHILIPPE, DE VILMORIN, a divinity student, into a duel and then killed him because he feared the idealist's dangerous gift of eloquence.

Over the dead body of his friend, Andre-Louis swore to carry on his work of reforming the lot of the peasants.

Scaramouche, as Andre-Louis is now called, falls in love with CLIMENE, daughter of the owner of the troupe, and tries to forget the beautiful ALINE DE KERCADIOU, whom he thinks will marry the Marquis. Climene treats him with coldness.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"And so, you find me cruel?" Climene challenged him at length. Andre-Louis looked at her with a half-smile.

"You have grown weary of your part of cruel madam—a dull part, believe me, and unworthy of your talents. Were I a woman and had I your loveliness and your grace, Climene, I should disdain to use them as weapons of offense."

"Loveliness and grace?" she echoed, feigning amused surprise. But the vain baggage was mollified. "When was it that you discovered this beauty and this grace, M. Scaramouche?"

"One morning when I beheld you rehearsing a love-scene with Leandre."

"Why, that was the first time you saw me."

"I had no earlier occasion to remark your charms."

"You ask me to believe too much," said she, but her tone was softer than he had ever known it yet.

"Then you'll refuse to believe me if I confess that it was this grace and beauty that determined my destiny that day by urging me to join your father's troupe."

At that she became a little out of breath. There was no longer any question of finding an outlet for resentment. Resentment was all forgotten.

"But why? With what object?"

"With the object of asking you one day to be my wife."

"You go very fast, don't you," she asked him, with heat.

"I do. Haven't you observed it? I am a man of sudden impulses. I have curbed and repressed myself not to scare you by precipitancy. I have waited—oh! so patiently—until you should tire of that mood of cruelty."

Mechanically, and as if by tacit consent, they resumed their walk.

"And I ask you to observe," he said, "when you complain that I go very fast, that, after all, I have so far asked you for nothing."

"How?" quoth she, frowning.

"I have merely told you of my hopes."

It was his self-possession that exasperated her; for after that she walked the short remainder of the way in silence, and so, for the moment, the matter was left just there.

But that night, after they had supped, it chanced that when Climene was about to retire, he and she were alone together in the room above stairs that her father kept exclusively for his company.

As Climene now rose to withdraw for the night, Scaramouche rose with her to light her candle. Holding it in her left hand, she offered him her right, a long, tapering, white hand at the end of a softly rounded arm that was bare to the elbow.

Thus a moment, then he took the tips of her fingers in his grasp, and bowing over the hand, pressed his lips upon it. Then he looked at her again. The intense femininity of her lured him on, invited him, surrendered to him.

By the hand he continued to hold, he drew her toward him. She came unresisting. He took the candle from her, and set it down on the sideboard by which she stood. The next moment her slight, lithe body was in his arms, and he was kissing her, murmuring her name as if it were a prayer.

"Am I cruel now?" she asked him, panting. He kissed her again, for only anger. "You made me cruel because you would not see," she told him next in a whisper.

And then the door opened, and M. Binet came in to have his paternal eyes regaled by this highly indecorous behavior of his daughter.

"And what may be the meaning of this?" demanded M. Binet, bewildered and profoundly shocked.

"Does it require explaining?" asked Scaramouche. "It means that Climene and I have taken it into our heads to be married."

"And doesn't it matter what I may take into my head?"

"Of course. But you could have neither the bad taste nor the bad heart to offer any obstacle."

"You take that for granted? Aye, that is your way, to be sure—to take things for granted. You have done an unworthy thing, Scaramouche. You have betrayed my trust in you. I am very angry with you."

He rolled forward with his ponderous yet curiously noiseless gait. Scaramouche turned to Climene, smiling, and handed her the candle.

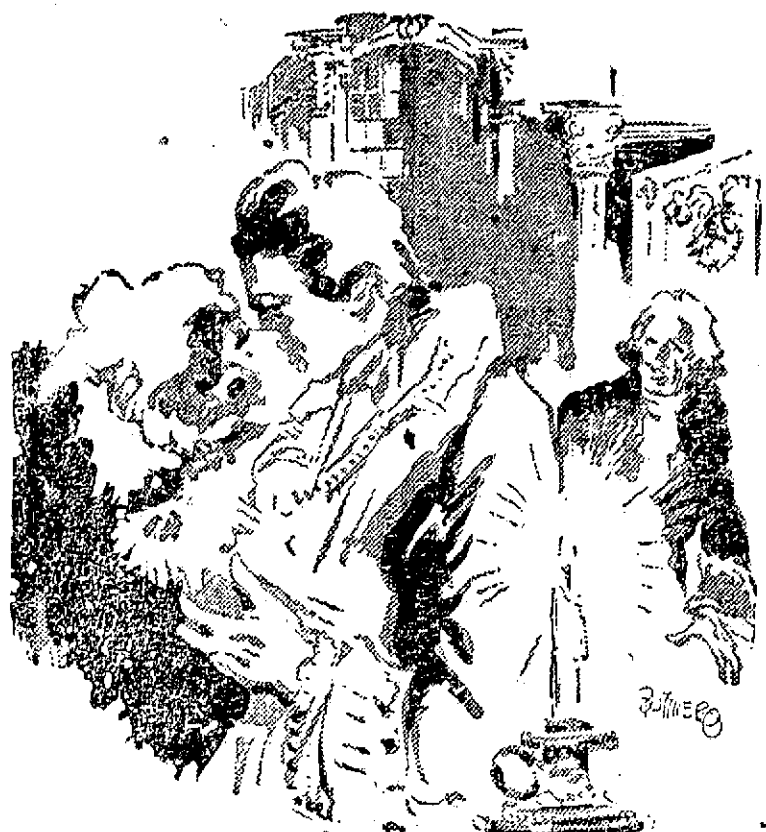

"If you will leave us, Climene, I will ask your hand of your father in proper form."

She vanished a little flustered, lovelier than ever in her mixture of confusion and timidity. Scaramouche closed the door and faced the enraged M. Binet, who had flung himself into an armchair.

"Father-in-law," said he, "I congratulate you. This will certainly mean the Comedie Francaise for Climene, and that before long, and you shall shine in the glory she will reflect. As the father of Madame Scaramouche you may yet be famous."

"You're a damned corsair," he cried thickly, hanging his ham-like fist upon the table. "A corsair! First you sail in and plunder me of half my legitimate gains; and now you want to carry off my daughter. But I'll be damned if I'll give her to a graceless, nameless scoundrel like you, for whom the galleys are waiting already."

Scaramouche pulled the belt-ropes, sat at all discomposed. He smiled. There was a flush on his cheeks and a gleam in his eyes. He was very pleased with the world that night. He really owed a great debt to M. de Lesdiguières.

"AM I CRUEL NOW?" SHE ASKED HIM, PANTING

"Binet," said he, "forget for once that you are Pantaloon, and behave as a nice, amiable father-in-law should behave when he has reared a son-in-law of exceptional merits."

CHAPTER VII

The Binet Troupe opened in Nantes—as you may discover in surviving copies of the "Courier Nantais"—on the Feast of the Purification with "Les Fourberies de Scaramouche."

For Scaramouche himself the opening success was not confined to the public. At the end of the play a great reception awaited him from his companions assembled in the green room of the theater.

On the following night they played "The Shy Lover" to a full house, the fame of their debut having gone abroad, and the success of Monday was confirmed.

After breakfast the following morning, Andre-Louis and Climene sallied forth to take the air upon the quays. Columbine tactlessly joined them as they were setting out, the matters were improved a little when Harlequin came running after them, and attached himself to Columbine.

Thru the bustle of traffic on the quay a cabriolet, the upper half of which was almost entirely made of glass, had approached them. It was drawn by two magnificent bay horses and driven by a superbly liveried coachman.

In the cabriolet sat a slight young girl wrapped in a lynx-fur pelisse, her face of a delicate loveliness. She was leaning forward, her lips parted, her eyes devouring Scaramouche until they drew his gaze. When that happened, the shock of it brought him abruptly to a dumfounded halt.

"What is it, Scaramouche?"

But he made no attempt to answer her, and at that moment the coachman, to whom the little lady had already signaled, brought the carriage to a standstill beside them.

Seen in the gorgeous setting of that coach with its escutcheoned panels, its portly coachman and its white-stockinged footman—who swung instantly to earth as the vehicle stopped—its dainty occupant seemed to Climene a princess out of a fairy-tale. And this princess leaned forward, with eyes arow and cheeks aflame, stretching out a choicely gloved hand to Scaramouche.

"Andre-Louis!" she called him.

"Aline!"

FIREFLY JOINS TWINS' QUEST

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

They landed right beside Lily Pond and there was old Granddaddy Firefly sulking.

Down to the earth slid Nancy and Nick to hunt Mr. Peerbabout, the lost Man-in-the-Moon.

They landed right beside Lily Pond, and there was old Granddaddy Firefly sulking.

"What's the matter, Granddaddy?" asked Nancy. "Is anybody sick?"

"No," said Granddaddy, "unless it's I. I'm sick of everything."

"Why, what's wrong?" asked Nancy kindly. "I should think you'd be happy on such a lovely night. It's just like Fairyland here. Everything smells so sweet and perfumy. And the crickets and tree frogs are singing and it's so quiet and comfy and everything."

Granddaddy buzzed his wings and flew around the grass stalk he'd been sitting on.

"I'll tell you all about it," he said. "You know how it is in this world. Folks like to get credit for what they do and they don't like other people to interfere with their right. Don't you agree with me?"

Nick said he did, tho he wasn't quite sure just what Granddaddy meant.

"It's the Moon," explained Granddaddy sulkily. "I hate it. When it shines, as it's doing tonight, nobody

"Oh!" cried Nancy. "Then you won't wish to help us, Granddaddy. You see we are after Mr. Peerbabout the Man-in-the-Moon. He's lost."

"You don't say so," exclaimed Granddaddy in surprise, lighting on Nancy's shoulder, the better to hear. "Where do you s'pose he's gone?"

"We don't know," said Nancy. "Comet-Legs, his enemy, shoved him off the Moon and says he's going to turn the Moon square."

"Well, I'll help you anyway," offered Granddaddy. "We surely don't want a square Moon-Man. The old Moon was good enough."

"Then you didn't mean what you said about wishing it was in Guinea," did you?" said Nancy quickly.

"No!" declared Granddaddy. "I guess I didn't. Things might be worse."

Big Sums Paid to Workers Seek Channels of Trade

Through the city, similar work is being done on streets in many places homes are under construction.

Business men point to the significance of much activity with smiles. The number of men who are given work on the improvements under way is hailed by them with joy. They predict better business, general improvement in commercial conditions and a tendency towards things normal, if factories in the city will open, as expected.

Similarly they point to the county road program as a great aid to conditions in general, once it gets fully under way.

Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it when feeling what they take unnecessary changes, which are the result of a run-down cause, much pain and trouble. Wet feet, exposure to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing remedy in such cases. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. If you are suffering it will pay you to give it a fair trial.—Adv.

SPORT CORES

Whiskaway speeds 'round the track. His jockey, from behind, too. But when he gets right down to it, they've been nowhere when through.

Directors of the Cleveland Indians met yesterday and elected Ernest S. Barnard president. In accordance with a request in the will of James Dunn, Tris Speaker was retained as manager.

Because he refused to lift a racing suspension, Archie Ziegler, jockey, shot Leon Wine, racing secretary of the Reno-Nevada meet, killing him instantly. Ziegler then killed himself.

Dean Mathey, ranking 17th in the American list, defeated M. Washet, Belgian star in the singles of the international grass court tennis tournament in Wimbledon. Scores were 6-6, 6-2 and 7-5.

Lives of great men off remind us. We could make our lives sublime. If we hadn't looked behind us. But the same we saw that time.

America's trio of golf stars, Walter Hagen, Jack Hutchinson and Jim Barnes, returning from England with the British laurels, were to be given an ovation in New York today.

Walter Mueller, outfielder of the Pirates, was released to Flint of the Michigan-Ontario league and Walter Hammond, second baseman, to the Kansas City A. club.

We've got one little golf ball left. But we're afraid to use it. It's got someone's initials on it. We know we can't lose it.

Jack Darry of Toledo and Eddie Adams of Detroit, two other weights, will meet tonight at Toledo on the same card that will feature a main go between Joe Padlo and Sallio Grant.

Because of preparations by members of the league to celebrate the Fourth, no games in the Lima Y. league will be played Saturday afternoon.

ROGERS HORNSBY GETS 100TH HIT OF SEASON

Poles 17th Homer

NEW YORK -- Rogers Hornsby, the hard-hitting Cardinal second baseman, has hit the century mark by making three hits in a game from which St. Louis emerged victorious over Pittsburgh's 7. He is the second player in the majors and the first in the National League to enter that field. George Sisler, the slugging first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, preceding him, Hornsby's 98th hit, his seventeenth home run of the season, sailed into the clubhouse between the scoreboard and the right field bleachers, the first time this feat was performed in the history of Forbes Field.

TOLEDO -- The Giants' pennant stock took another boom when Fred Toney showed that he had regained his form by twirling a three-hit game against the Red Sox. Toney, who had been hit by a double and a triple, double and single.

Brooklyn drove Babe Marquard to cover and defeated the Boston Braves 7-3. Gump was very effective and was aided by Johnston's hitting and sensational fielding.

The Yankees "pulled even" by tying it up in the ninth and winning out in the tenth from the Senators 6-1. Washington threatened in their half of the final inning, but they were replaced by the Red Sox, who replaced Jones, who received credit for the victory, previously lost his last eight starts.

MACKS OUT OF CELLAR
By overwhelming Boston 10-7, the Athletics once more climbed out of the cellar to permit the Red Sox to acclimate themselves to that position. The Philadelphia center fielder's attack in the fourth and fifth innings in which they scored eight runs.

The other teams were idle.

REAL TEST IN GOLF CLASSIC

KANSAS CITY -- The real fight in the Western amateur golf tournament began today at the Hillcrest course with "Chief" Evans of Chicago, meeting Fred Wright of Los Angeles, and George Von Elm, of Salt Lake City facing Clarence Wolff of St. Louis in the semi-finals to decide the two to fight in the final tomorrow for the title, now held by Evans for the sixth time.

That it would be a day of play by golf giants and productive of superior golf was indicated by the wonderful shooting of these men throughout the tournament. Each has had to play an almost impossible game to get into the semi-finals.

For the first time in the history of the Western Golf Association and probably for the first time in this country, an admission fee—$1—was charged to today's afternoon rounds. The same fee will be charged at the finals tomorrow.

WINS CONFERENCE MEDAL TWO WAYS

Clarence F. Crossley of St. Louis has been awarded the conference medal for excellence in scholarship and athletics at the University of Illinois. This award is made to one graduating senior in each Big Ten institution.

Crossley, who received his degree in chemistry on June 11, played varsity baseball for three years. For two years he played in the outfield and this year he was moved to third base.

Three years ago Crossley organized an independent basketball team, self-styled the Apaches. In three years of intra-mural basketball this team of which Crossley was the organizer, coach, captain and one of the players, played nearly seventy games and won them all.

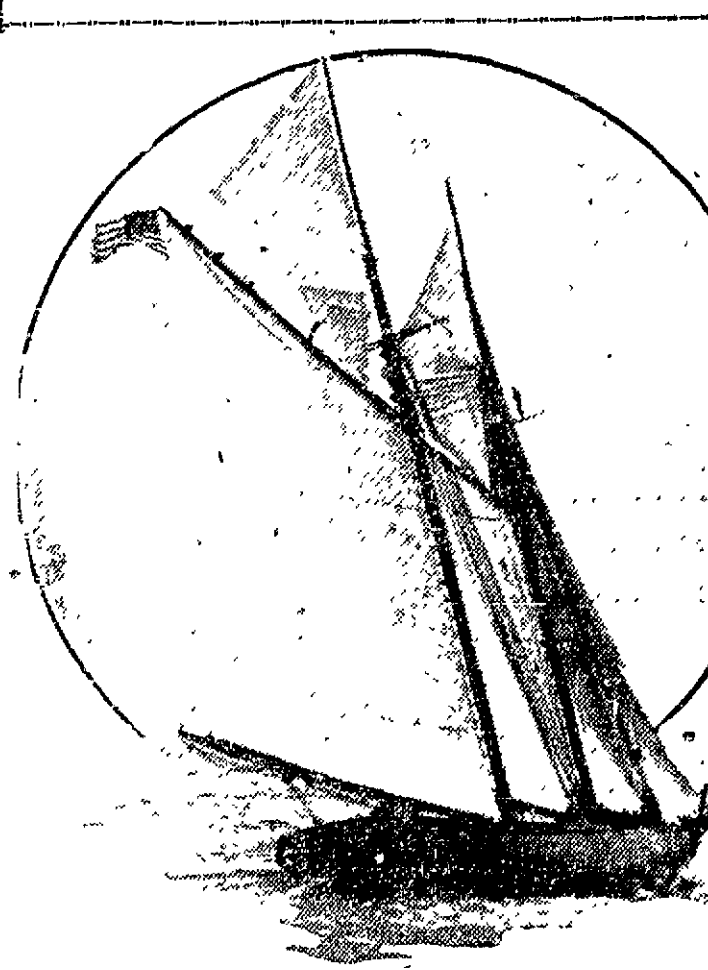

To the casual observer this may not mean much, but this year this same team entered the sectional independent amateur basketball tournament at Danville and emerged champions.

Altho a chemist by education, Crossley has elected to enter the coaching profession. He will be athletic director of the Quincy high school next year.

INDIANS TRIM REDS

Charles Throckmorton starred in a 15 to 0 win scored by the Indian Midgits over the Reds at Fairport Thursday by hitting two triples and a double. Throckmorton also twirled for the Midgits, "Midger" McDaniel worked for the Reds.

American Cup Challenger

THE first picture of the schooner had to engage in bona fide fishing on the Banks all summer. Her owners have high hopes of winning the trophy, which was carried off last year by the Canadian schooner, Blue Nose.

SURVEY DISCLOSES WONDERFUL CROP OF ATHLETES FOR OLYMPICS

THE statistics taken from the 1922 field of school and college track athletes show an encouraging crop for what Olympic games are to be held in the coming two years. Just the international games booked for Los Angeles in 1923 and the eighth Olympiad to be held in France.

A thorough survey has been made of all the athletes competing this year for the American educational institutions from which the majority of the material generally is selected.

Sprinters are plentiful at this time both from the scholastic fields and the colleges. Ten school boys have been credited throughout the country as having done the 100 yards in less than 10 seconds. From reports

STEPS TAKEN TO SECURE PECORD

Decision to secure Ollie Pecord, noted Toledo referee, to handle the Cross-Broom 12-round main fight here Fourth of July, was made last night by the Lima boxing commission. The body got in communication with Pecord and found he will be able to come.

No definite action was to be taken, however, until Secretary Frank Callahan conferred with the two managers, Earl Smith and Scotty Gowdy, today.

Charley Maxwell will handle all bouts except the main go, the commission favors an outside official because of the intensity of feeling between the camps.

Hagen's Is Real Golf

EVERY sport has at stated intervals its outstanding figure. In baseball Rube Waddell, Hans Wagner, Larry Lajoie, Grover Alexander, Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth have held sway. Certain things these stars could do a little better than any one else made them the talks of the baseball world.

The boxing game has had its John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Stanley Ketchel, Battling Nelson, Jack Britton and Benny Leonard.

Football has produced any number of idols, but none greater than Jim Thorpe.

Now we come down to golf, the game that is fast developing into a national institution.

Golf has produced many great players. In the game today are any number of stars who stand out because of their greatness on the links. Some have won fame largely thru their driving ability, others for their short game and a few for their all-around sound play.

Of the present galaxy of golf stars Walter Hagen unquestionably is the most imposing figure in the golf world, the outstanding figure of the game.

Hagen is the style golfer you see in the pictures, and read about in fiction, but seldom come across in real life.

MONEY PLAYER

Hagen is the ideal golfer. He looks the part and plays it. No task seems too difficult. He does his best in the pinches. As a money player he is without an equal. In all big golf tournaments the chief thought of the other contestants is: "What's Hagen's score?"

Hagen has just won more golfing fame by taking the British open championship. It is the first time an American-born golfer has ever turned the trick. He has so many other titles to his credit that he has to employ a secretary to keep track of them.

BENNY STANDS TO LOSE HALO

BY HENRY L. FARRELL.
NEW YORK—Because one of the smartest old heads in the boxing game and one of the ring's greatest boxers—Jack Britton, made him look bad, the folks are figuring that Benny Leonard has one foot off the lightweight throne.

Implementations of doping are being used that the lightweight champion has taken on two good chances of losing his crown in his fight with Rocky Kansas at Kansas City on the Fourth and later in the month against Lew Tentler in Jersey City.

Figuring that Leonard was at his best against Britton, with no weight to make and nothing critical at stake, it might be figured that Benny has gone back and that he is all set for a fall.

There is no doubt that Leonard is not as good as he was two years ago, because he is not one of those unusual athletes who improve with age.

Leonard blames his poor showing against Britton on indoor training. He prepared for that fight in a New York gymnasium to help his trainer get started in business.

WHISKAWAY NOT IN LATONIA DERBY

CINCINNATI -- The Latonia Derby, to be run at Latonia, Ky., tomorrow, will bring together a field of probably six thoroughbreds to contest for the $15,000 stake over a mile and a half route. Chief interest among horsemen today centered in Olympus and Broomster, from the Harry Payne Whitney stable, and Thibadaux, runnerup to Whiskaway in the Kentucky Special last week, when Morovich was beaten and finished a trailing third.

ROTES ARE IN FIRST PLACE

The job started Tuesday by the Lions was completed Thursday afternoon by the Rotarians and the result is the Kiwanians are in second place of the business men's league standing. Rotes bumped the Elks in an interesting game, 8 to 5, boosting themselves into first place, which the Nubians made possible when they stung the Kiwanis for a defeat in the first game of the week.

Don Coon reappeared on the Rote mound and held the Elks to seven bingles while his mates were trouncing up Kruskamp for 11. Jess Ireton dropped a long drive into center field in the first inning and it went for a homer when Clark played polo with the ball. Herb Snyder won the camedel mitter for hitting. He scored three singles out of three attempts.

A base on balls to Reynolds, a sacrifice by Cohn and hits by Stolly, Cardosi and Ireton gave the Elks three in the first. The Rotes came back with one and four more in the second when Seals was nipped in the ribs, and Snyder, Schultz, Waller and Thompson hit safely. Waller's drive was a triple. The antiered ones were tame after that.

The Rotary has four wins to its credit and two defeats for a percentage of .667. The Kiwanis has four wins and three defeats, good for .572. The Lions are in third place with three wins and four loss, a mark of .429 and Elks are trailing with .375—three victories and five defeats.

Errand Boy To Star

By BILLY EVANS
FAME comes quickly in baseball. It slips away just as rapidly. For further information consult Babe Ruth.

Four years ago Clarence Mueller was errand boy around the clubhouse of the St. Louis Cardinals. Today no youngster has a brighter future in baseball than Mueller, unless a serious injury to one of his legs plays havoc with his chances.

His job as errand boy around the clubhouse gave the youngster a chance to mingle with the players, work out with them in morning practice and before the game.

IS HUSTLER

Mueller is an ambitious youth. During his kid days Johnny Tobin of the St. Louis Browns was the youngster's idol.

Mueller's cleverness in morning practice caught the eye of Manager Branch Rickey. Incidentally Mueller informed Rickey about that time that he would like to get a chance to play professional ball.

Rickey signed Mueller to a St. Louis contract, last season, but farmed him out to the Syracuse club of the International League to gain experience.

It didn't take Mueller long to prove his ability. In the first 75 games he played for Syracuse he batted .362. His work caused Rickey to recall him. In the National League in 1921 he played 55 games and batted .352.

SOME JUMP

In a short year Mueller from the position of clubhouse boy has jumped to a position of prominence in baseball.

In figuring his 1922 chances in the National League Rickey counted heavily on Mueller. An injury to one of his legs this spring put him out of the running. The club physician has advised that he play no more ball this season.

ROBBERS INVADE THREE HOMES

Metcalf-st Man Chases Thief—
Wenger Place Visited

A. L. Lawson, 226 S. Metcalf-st., had the unique experience of having his bedroom converted into the starting point of a marathon Thursday night when he stirred in his sleep and discovered a burglar searching his clothing.

The fellow dashed out of the room, did the stairway in three, bolted out of the house, across the street and thru a vacant lot, Lawson told police. When he returned from the chase, Lawson investigated the room with inward quakes, but found no had frightened the visitor away in the nick of time. Nothing was missing.

Lima police were appealed to by Mrs. A. L. Ramsey, Ottawa, who said a burglar had robbed her of a black lace mantilla, highly valued as an heirloom that had been in the family for many generations.

His residence has a peculiar attraction for a prowler who visits him most every night about 9:30. W. E. Wenger, 228 Harrison-ave., told police.

CREPE CAPES

Capes of crepe de chine and of georgette crepe are seen in large numbers at the fashionable resorts. These are worn over light frocks, and are apt to be deep flame color, electric blue or beige.

BRIGHT EYES

It makes the eyes bright and clear if you bathe them first in warm water containing a pinch of salt and then with clear, cool water. It is well always to filter water that is used in the eyes by pouring it thru several thicknesses of cheese cloth.

SHORT SHAVINGS

J. F. Collins, superintendent of Lima schools, has a fancy for accurate English. He was not favorably impressed when a student asked, "When do I graduate?"

"How might I know," asked Collins. "You might graduate any time for all I know. But it may interest you to know that you will not be graduated this spring."

Gold coins are in so little use here as currency that many boys and girls grow up without seeing one. Some never have heard of an "eagle" or "half eagle."

If you promised a boy a half eagle he might think it is something to eat in a restaurant. That introduces the wedding story told by George Ruth.

American archeologists digging up the ruins of Sardis, ancient Lydian capital in Asia Minor, found some gold coins minted by Croesus about 550 B. C.

They have a lion on one side and on the other side a bull, and are called "staters."

Bull still is a symbol of the methods by which wealth is accumulated by more than one modern Croesus.

Only five staters altogether had been found up to the time of the present American find in Lydia.

They are even rarer than American gold coin in Lima.

Postmaster Ed Truesdale and Dr. G. G. McCoy of Delphos, went out fishing in the Auglaize-co river.

Truesdale remembered a place where he caught a big fish last summer. He showed it to McCoy.

It was under the bank. They stood on the edge and leaned over to look down. The bank caved and in, with a splash, went Ed and Doc.

OPERATION "ENJOYABLE"—IF TAKEN WITH RADIO

There is joy even in undergoing a surgical operation!

Radio has made it possible. The idea came recently to surgeons of the Emergency Hospital, at Washington, D. C. They installed a radio receiving set in the operating room.

At first the surgeons had trouble inducing their patients to enjoy a radio concert while being operated on. The subjects saw no fun in it. But the choice was either, chloroform or radio, and soon a girl chose radio.

A broadcasting station was tuned in, the receivers placed over the patient's ears and the surgeon prepared his instruments.

While the concert entertained the patient, the surgeon completed the operation. All the girl said was, "I can hear perfectly."

Loop Antenna Reduces Interferences But Loses In Effectiveness

By PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority

"What will a loop antenna do for me?"

Innumerable radio fans ask that question. Each could answer it for himself if he would get a little understanding of the structure and operation of the coil or loop antenna.

This type of aerial is comprised of several vertical wires all connected together. These vertical wires act in the same way as vertical antenna. Their being connected makes it possible for the signal energies created in them to be added together and thus feed the receiver.

But even tho there is a multiplicity of these small vertical antennas, the total energy produced in them is considerably smaller than that which would be produced in a single large one.

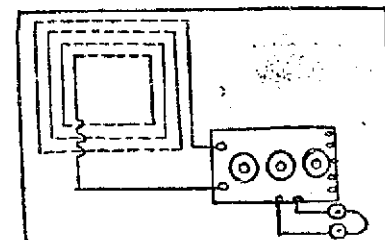

Only a limited number of turns upon the loop may be used for a given wave length. If the number of turns is too great, it may be impossible to use the loop for the desired wave length.

Usually the loop constructed for the reception of 360 meter waves has about 19 turns of wire wound on a frame measuring three feet on each side. This should give the equivalent of 20 small vertical antennas, each three feet in height or a single length 6 feet high.

ENERGY EFFECTS

But the energies induced in each of these wires does not add fully. The resultant energy is only slightly greater than that which would be received from one group of 10 vertical wires. This would be equal approximately to the energy received in a wire slightly more than 30 feet in height.

Most amateur antenna have a height considerably greater than 30 feet.

Signals received upon a loop usually will not average more than 1-70 part of those received upon the average outdoor antenna.

Thus the loop antenna lends itself for use only with the most sensitive type of amplifying receivers.

In connection with these it will aid considerably in the reduction of interference of all sorts, altho it cannot by any means completely eliminate natural electrical disturbances.

It can only reduce them.
